Rift over role of fincom

by Arlene Surprenant
Friction between members of Wilmington's Finance Committee and the Board of Selectmen has once again surfaced, judging from a remark made by selectman Chairman Rocco DePasquale at the board's meeting Monday night and other indications at the tail end of a long meeting.

DePasquale directed Town Manager Buzz Stapczynski to check with Town Counsel Alan Altman on the finance committee's role since the advent of Prop 2 1/2. After the meeting, DePasquale explained that he wished Altman to check with attorneys in other towns to see what falls under fincom's jurisdiction and what kind of articles they can make recommendations on. He pointed out there "seems to be a difference of opinion" between the two boards and he, personally, felt fincom's role should be that of a "watchdog committee."

According to the Massachusetts Finance Committee Handbook, "the (finance) committee should be involved in every policy decision which the town faces and be the personal advisor to the voters. It should make recommendations on the school budget, on all other budgets, on special articles, and on referenda." Further it states, "Fincom shall consider any and all municipal questions for the purpose of making reports or recommendations to the town."

Much of the "difference of opinion" mentioned by DePasquale stems from antagonism displayed at April's annual town meeting. At that meeting, selectmen charged that Fincom members were dictating to the Town Manager by not supporting recommendations for extra items in the town budget. It was fincom's feeling that the town should not vote in items unless the expected state aid to fund them was assured.

For their part, some Fincom members were concerned by a statement made by member Bill Hanlon at last week's Fincom meeting. Hanlon told the committee Stapczynski would like to review all candidates seeking appointment to that board.

According to Stapczynski, he did make that statement but he only desires to give input into the selection process in a "casual" way. He told the Town Crier he is not seeking an "activist" role or looking to do anything illegal. He would, however, like to clarify his role and that of the Finance Committee, he said.

Under the Wilmington Inhabitant Bylaws, new members can only be appointed by three people: the chairman of fincom, the chairman of the board of selectmen, and the town moderator.

According to fincom Chairman Mark Lutz, most of the board was "very upset" by Hanlon's statement last week. He said he is presently in the process of trying to verify what was said.

Some fincom members, like Dennis Volpe, are more outspoken and resist any move on the part of selectmen or anyone else to control or dictate to his committee what falls within their jurisdiction.

Probable cause hearing for shooting suspect

A probable cause hearing will be held in Woburn District Court on Thursday in the case of a man accused of a double shooting in Wilmington last month.

Louis Gauthier was arrested last month after an incident in a home on Kelley Road, Wilmington. Robert Cleary, 35, and Allison White, 23, were both wounded shortly after 6 p.m. on April 21.

Gauthier was charged with two counts of assault and battery with a dangerous weapon (revolver), assault with a dangerous weapon, three charges of assault with intent to murder, and unlicensed carrying of a firearm.

The incident took place at the home of Sybil Dalton, the mother of Allison White. Police allege that Gauthier also shot at Mrs. Dalton and missed.

Gauthier was bailed on $1000 cash last Thursday. Bail had originally been set at $100,000 or $10,000 cash. He is reportedly staying with a relative in Lynn.

Override of drug policy causes flap

by Arlene Surprenant
An alleged violation of the school system's drug and alcohol policy by two students led to an executive session with those involved and subsequent action by the school superintendent to overrule Principal Paul Fleming at last Wednesday's school committee meeting. The incident reportedly occurred at a baseball practice on school grounds during April vacation.

The discussion in the executive session centered around the term "possession" and how it could be interpreted, said new chairman Robert Peterson after the meeting.

"Obviously, it was the high school principal's feeling that the students possessed something on school property," he said, adding that the principal enforced the policy "to the letter of the law (and) I can't find fault with that." Under the policy, put into effect almost two years ago, any student in possession is suspended for eight days for a first offense. If parents meet with the administration, the suspension is reduced to four days. Also, the student in violation loses the privilege of participating in school functions and extra activities for the remainder of the school year.

The school committee voted to uphold Superintendent Robert Horan's recommendation to lift the restriction. Shirley Callan and Mitchell Spiris were the only holdouts. They claimed that lifting the restriction would undermine the policy voted in by the school committee. Along with the vote, most agreed they would like to review the policy at a future meeting.

"The problem is policy," said Callan, who told the Crier she felt it was wrong from the time it was implemented. She was concerned that the policy might be too stringent. Keeping students out of extra-curricular or athletic activities for such an extended period may actually do more harm than good, she explained.

Peterson, who was a member of the Task Force which created the policy said "I'm very happy with the policy but, in retrospect, the guidelines are a little tight." He suggested the committee re-evaluate it as there may not, currently, be much latitude in how to interpret it.

When asked to comment after the meeting, Fleming said "we feel we did absolutely the right thing according to the policy of the school committee - that's our job." He agreed with Peterson that it may be time to review the policy.

License granted for video game

Michael Castellano, owner of Uncle Mikes on Route 129, was granted a license for a video game for his establishment, subject to restrictions. The license was granted after a third appearance before the Wilmington Board of Selectmen Monday night and a second survey of neighbors by Police Chief Bobby Stewart.

According to survey results, neighbors were primarily concerned that the game might lead to loiterers in the vicinity of the building and they suggested the license be issued on a temporary basis.

Under the terms of the license, the game will only be in operation after school hours and will be placed in the pizza take-out section of the store. As the licensing authority, the selectmen have the right to revoke the license at any time.

Town demands payment of disputed water bill

The Wilmington Water and Sewer Commissioners last Thursday voted to send a notice to the Olin Corporation on Eames Street, to pay overdue water and sewer bills within 10 days, or the commissioners will turn the problems of collection over to the town counsel. The commissioners had asked for, and understood that some representative of Olin would be present at their meeting, in the Butters Row plant. No one from Olin was present.

Water and sewer bills have not been paid since the October 1985 bill. That bill was read aloud during the commissioners' meeting. The total due, according to the reading in October was $47,133.04. That and two subsequent bills for three month periods were unpaid, the commissioners stated.

According to Water Department clerk, Sylvia Bowman, the bill submitted was based on new meter readings, previous meters having been out of order. It was estimated on the readings over a period of time, multiplied by three.

Commissioner Arthur Smith moved that Olin be given 10 days to pay, or the water would be shut off. There was no second to his motion. Chairman George Allan moved that if the bills were not paid in 10 days the water commissioners would turn over to the town counsel the problem of collection and this was voted.

Ron McBrien of Olin told the Town Crier that the company had found the October bill as submitted to be excessively high, and a protest had been made. Their estimate on what the bill should have been was based on meter readings for outgoing water.

He believes the corporation to be in a good position, and has agreed to pay the subsequent water bills. The October bill, he said, was "quite inflated." There has been no plan to send any representative to the meeting with the commissioners.

Edward McDonald promoted

Edward S. McDonald of Allen Park Drive, Wilmington has been promoted to regional vice president of No Nonsense Fashions, Inc., division of the Kayser-Roth Hosiery Corp., Greensboro, N.C.

In his new capacity, McDonald will be responsible for sales volume, consumer promotional programs, sales management training and marketing analysis. He was also appointed to the corporate executive task force responsible for long range planning and new product development.

The Kayser-Roth Hosiery Corp. is the largest manufacturer of hosiery products in the United States. McDonald joined the company in 1974 and has served as district sales manager zone manager, region manager, and most recently as national sales manager.

Prior to joining No Nonsense Fashions, Ed was the Boston area manager for the H.J. Heinz Co. He is a 1970 graduate of Boston College's School of Management.

His wife, Maureen, served on the Shawsheen Elementary School Improvement Council as the non-district parent and was recently elected to the Wildwood Elementary School PAC Committee.

Mr. and Mrs. McDonald have lived in Wilmington for 12 years. Their daughter, Heather, is a student at the Wildwood School.

Metcalfe elected president of Regional Health Center Community Board of Directors

The Community Board of Directors of the Regional Health Center in Wilmington (RHCW) has elected new officers for 1986-87.

Roger Metcalfe of 7 Hardin St., Wilmington, was elected president of the 19-member board. He served as vice president last year, and succeeds Marjorie Mosher of Wilmington who was president for the past two years.

Named to succeed Metcalfe as vice president was Henry C. Latta of 7 Lawn St., Wilmington. Mr. Latta served as the board's secretary for the past two years.

Raymond McNamara of 208 Main St., Wilmington, was re-elected treasurer. He has served in that position for the past two years.

Elected secretary was Joan Belluche of 50 David Morris Rd., Tewksbury.

Re-elected to three-year terms on the board were Tony S. Almeida, Roger Beaupre, Maurice O'Neil and Mr. Metcalfe, all Wilmington residents.

The RHCW Community Board of Directors has been instrumental in shaping the growth and development of the Regional Health Center, and continues to play an active role in its operation.

The board meets monthly to discuss and decide policies and issues facing the RHCW. Representatives on the board come from area communities including Wilmington, Tewksbury, Andover, and North Reading.

Her fiancé is a 1982 graduate of Merrimack College with a degree in economics. He is currently employed by Wang Laboratories. An October wedding is planned.

Engaged

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Erickson of Winslow, Maine have announced the engagement of their daughter Nancy Ann Foran to Roy C. Meyer of Wilmington, Mass.

Miss Foran is a graduate of the University of Maine at Orono and is currently employed as a sales support specialist for Atex in Burlington.

Her fiancé, the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Meyer graduated from Wilmington High School with the class of 1974. He is now attending Northeastern University and is employed as an engineering aid for Cognition Inc. in Billerica. A November wedding is planned.

Benefit dance Saturday night

A sell-out crowd is expected at Saturday's second annual dance to benefit the handicapped, according to Wilmington Committee for Citizens with Disabilities Inc. (WCCD) spokesman Peggy Ryan.

Peggy, who is the moving force behind this annual social event, told the Town Crier 251 tickets have already been sold. The remaining 14 tickets, if not sold prior to the dance, will be available at the door at a cost of $5.00 each.

The dance will be held at the Knights of Columbus Hall from 8 to 12 p.m. this Saturday. During the evening, refreshments in the form of chips and dips, pretzels, and cold drinks will be available; music will be provided by WLHE disc jockey Larry Haber; and a raffle will be held.

The original decision to run a dance came about when Peggy decided she "just wanted to help out in some way." All profits will go to help disabled citizens in Wilmington. Also, she added, she has high expectations that those who share in the fun will "have a good time - definitely."

To honor those who's sacrifice has made possible the Freedoms which we take for granted.

On your feet

Ankle Sprains

The ankle joint if uninjured should only function in the up and down direction. The ability of the foot to move from side to side does not actually occur in the ankle, but in the foot. If the foot is bent inward and beyond its normal range, then the ankle joint is forced to move.

Forced side to side movement in the ankle puts abnormal stresses upon ligaments and tendons that attach and surround the joint. The most common injury is the tearing of ligaments on the outside of the ankle. Other injuries may also involve structures of the lower leg which would be referred to other specialists.

Prompt treatment of ankle injuries is important not only for resolution of pain; but in the prevention of long term problems.

Rocco elected chairman

by Arlene Surprenant

The housing issue is one of the things the town will be faced with in the year ahead, selectman Rocco DePasquale told fellow board members Monday night as he assumed the reins of office from outgoing Chairman Robert Doucette. DePasquale received the unanimous vote of the board.

During the board's organization process, DePasquale also pointed out that passing the Underground Storage Tank Bylaw as a "major achievement" and he hopes the board can "continue with the momentum that we have now."

Selectmen and Town Manager Buzz Stapczynski, in turn, praised Doucette for his conduct as chairman, the way he kept the board informed, and for his availability in the past year.

During his tenure, Doucette said, the town and Chamber of Commerce have been looking at an alternate source of power, a second water treatment plant has been approved, the library was computerized, a new senior center was dedicated, and the high school renovation work is moving ahead. Included in "top priority" items for the next year, he added, should be the hiring of a qualified person to monitor all chemical plants in town and further study on the need for a sub-fire station in North Wilmington.

Compromise sought on septic plans

by Arlene Surprenant

Representatives of Dana Perkins Associates came before the Wilmington Board of Health Monday night to seek a compromise on the septic system of a building that was already "nineteenths constructed" on Jonspin Road.

Plans for the 71,600 square foot building in the North Wilmington Industrial Park call for the use of leaching trenches. According to a new regulation posted a few weeks ago, only beds will be approved for systems in Wilmington.

"The policy of this board has never been varied," explained Domenic Tutela who stated since he was on the board, only beds or leaching fields have been approved. And, he told those present, "I don't like exceptions to the rules." He pointed to a similar problem with several of the Chapter 705 homes under the housing authority's jurisdiction.

"We don't want to go back to square one," said the firm's representatives, pointing out that the new regulation took them "by total surprise." They stressed that they feel conditions on the 6.3 acre property are better suited to trenches, though they were willing to compromise by leaving an area vacant for a reserve system.

Though Tutela wondered aloud how the firm's plans went so far ahead without his ever seeing them, he went along with the board in holding a final decision "in abeyance" until June 2.

Lots of emotions, no decisions on grade plans

by Arlene Surprenant

A letter from several concerned parents led Tony Accardi last Wednesday to question if parents were being led to believe the school committee had approved a middle school plan. Superintendent Robert Horan said nothing had been approved though they had discussed it in the past.

"The letter was placed in each committee member's file by Horan who expected to bring up grade reorganization at that meeting. Because of the length of the agenda, he said, this was postponed."

Horan promised that, in the near future, seven to nine different plans for housing students to make the most of present buildings pace will be reviewed by the committee.

One of the plans under consideration is the middle school concept of placing grades six through eight in one separate building. Other options include closing the Wildwood School, merging the two intermediate schools into one and changing the North Intermediate School into an elementary school, and opening up another school like Boutwell, Horan said.

Assistant Superintendent Henry Dembowski said he had been in touch with some of the ladies who signed the letter and they "only chose to hear one option on the middle school and it frightened them." He labeled the whole thing "a real emotional issue."

Phil Fenton agreed the reaction was emotional. The committee went through the options a few years ago, he said, and at that time, members got the message "loud and clear" that they shouldn't go with a middle school concept.

Going up

They were heroes all

by Mike Kelley

John Reagan, William Buttersworth, Antonio Gagnon, and John Rich were four young men who had a lot in common. All four had spent the best part of their lives in this town and left family and friends to go off to fight in a war for their country.

They took with them the warmth and memories of a town they loved. Despite the fact they came from different generations, they shared the common bond of being home town boys. And like many of Wilmington's young men, they went off to serve in far away places, with some never to return home. These four young men, however, hold a special distinction of being the first, of four different wars, to die in the service of their country from our town.

Private John Reagan was in the trenches of the Western Front near Naves, France in World War I. When the beauty of autumn filled Middlesex Avenue with colors of gold and red, young John Reagan fell on the battlefield. Killed in action on October 11, 1918, just 30 days before the war was to end with Germany's surrender. John would never again see the rainbow of nature on Middlesex Avenue.

William E. Buttersworth was a radioman aboard a ship in the frigid North Atlantic at the time when Nazi U-Boats lurked beneath the waves. World War II had just begun and William was one of the first to the battle front. Back home, in February of 1942, the old wooden bridge over the railroad tracks led down Butters Row to a little winter wonderland of warm homes and smoking chimneys. But William would never walk over that old bridge again as he did so many times before. He was 21 when he died for his country on February 18, 1942.

Antonio T. J. Gagnon was just a kid growing up during World War II. Like lots of children back then, he listened to the nightly broadcasts over the radio which told of big battles in Europe and in the Pacific. Little did Antonio know that one day soon, he too would be engaged in a major military battle.

Five years after World War II ended, Antonio was in the U.S. Army. It was early July, 1950. The Korean War was only a few weeks old. The Communists were steam-rolling a large Army across South Korea against token resistance. Antonio's unit, the 24th Infantry Division, was shipped from occupation duty in Japan and rushed into action near the city of Taejeon. When the Communists ran into the 24th Division, the first big battle of the war began. Antonio was there! When the smoke cleared, the casualties were gathered. Antonio was one of them. Under the gray Korean skies, far from the summer breeze of Silver Lake, he gave his life for his country.

John A. Rich was a U.S. Marine -- one of the few, the proud. He came from a generation raised on Rice Krispies, Mickey Mouse, John Wayne war movies and Rock and Roll. He was a product of the 1950's. Born May 7, 1946, John grew up on Main Street and graduated from WHS, Class of 64. In January of 1966 he was drafted and left home for Marine Boot Camp. Six months later he was on combat patrols in the bush in Vietnam. In July, his unit took part in Operation Hastings, a large scale combat action near the DMZ, where for the first time the Leathernecks came face to face with elements of the North Vietnamese Army (NVA).

It was during this deadly combat action John was hit and mortally wounded. He was 20 years old when he died for his country. Behind that smiling, handsome face was a boy from Wilmington. He was one of the few, the proud, the Marines!

John Reagan, William Buttersworth, Antonio Gagnon, and John Rich. They were boys. They were men. They were four heroes from Wilmington, Massachusetts. They had the right stuff!

letters to the editor

Dear Larz:

Some comments, please, regarding the recent incident of restrictions being lifted for students accused of alcohol violations while on school property, and suspended by Mr. Fleming, principal of Wilmington High and his vice principals in agreement in the decision.

If these young people were unjustly accused of any wrongdoing -- why did their families accept the suspension and then fight for reinstatement of sports activities?

Not too long ago Mr. Fleming lifted these same restrictions for a student to participate in a ski trip and the young man was arrested in Canada with illegal drugs in his possession and six of his friends for participating in the use of illegal drugs.

Just a few beers, just a joint or two, they didn't mean any harm -- possession of illegal drugs is possession that is sort of like saying "oh, she is just a little bit pregnant."

The Drug/Alcohol Policy clearly stated, and all families in Wilmington received a copy at the beginning of the year, (1) "any student found to have possessed, distributed, or to have been under the influence of illegal drugs, including alcohol, in school buildings, on school property, or at a school sponsored event will be suspended for eight days on the first offense, and his/her parents or guardian will be called to remove the student immediately from school property, etc.; (2) further, violation of this policy by a student forfeits his/her privilege to participate in any and all extracurricular school activities for the remainder of the year."

Mr. Fleming had ruled that this student was in violation of the policy and therefore the policy was put in effect.

The action taken at the last school committee meeting undermined a "strong" and effective policy and certainly did not help the students involved. They have beat the rap and are quick to brag about it.

I wonder how the other kids feel that accepted their wrong doing and the consequences, and more importantly how students will feel in the future.

Agreed some of them are "good" kids, but they are good kids knowingly breaking the laws of the Commonwealth of Mass. and the policy set by the Wilmington School Committee.

Mrs. Callan and Mr. Spiris are to be commended for standing by this policy and voting to uphold the decision of the high school principal -- if the policy needs to be amended so be it but it is a standing policy.

Perhaps the answer lies in the old "not what you know but why you know" and the old "jock" mentality that prevails in our town is alive and well -- "Winning is the name of the game, at all cost." This is a very frustrating, confusing and most disappointing situation of politics and personalities not rules and regulations -- justice had nothing to do with it.

A. Linehan

Dear Larz:

We would like to take this opportunity to thank Officer Bob Shelley and the Wilmington Police Patrolmen's Association for caring enough to sponsor a program on bike safety for our children.

We would especially like to thank them for their generosity in purchasing six bikes to be awarded to lucky elementary students, one of which went to our daughter, Kim, in a school drawing last week.

It's nice to be able to take the time out, once in awhile, to point out the good that occurs in our town.

Sincerely,

The V. Surprenant Family

Dear Larz:

Way back in 1973 a number of people came to a Bible class held at my home.

Most of these people are scattered now, but they were wonderful people.

I would like to get in touch with them again.

If anyone who used to come sees this letter, please feel free to call me or visit on any Monday evening.

The May 25, 1961 edition of the Town Crier of Wilmington noted that:

The summer school program, running from June 26 through August 4, would be expanded to include seven courses for grades seven through 12.

The last May procession to be held from the old St. Thomas Church was pictured.

Four Wilmington Scouts were awarded the "For God and Country Cross" the first such awards made to Wilmington Scouts of the Protestant Faith - Frank Ingram, Glenn Milley, Bruce Kirby and Douglas Day.

Mike Anderson had the leading batting average for the entire Pony League.

County Real Estate was offering an eight room house, four bedrooms, two car garage, near Avco; $160 per month.

Old Home Week at the Forest Street Church (now St. Elizabeth's) found three former pastors among the 85 guests present for the festivities - the Rev. Arthur Simmons of Southfield; the Rev. Herman White of Reading and the Rev. Blamey of Quincy. Pictured with them were church members Herman Peitzsch, Arthur Arnold, and (then) present pastor, the Rev. Charles Gailey, Bill Mann Jr. and Bill Mann, Sr.

The May 26 piano recital by the pupils of Mrs. Mary Dinteman included selections performed by: John Murphy, Susan Crawford, Janet Driscoll, Sandra Bell, Pamela Gordon, Scott Sheerin, Ann Stantial, Claudia Doucette, Linda Murphy, Jeanne Massone, Henry Johnson, Susan Driscoll, Marjorie Doucette, Terry Silvers, Patricia Sullivan, Deborah Bell, Jane Emery, Gretchen Platt, Bill Downs, Janet Sutton, Katherine Doucette, Lorraine Dias and Cheryl Silvers.

The First National Store was advertising roast boneless chuck for 53 cents a pound; stew beef for 65 cents and cellophane packages of tomatoes for 19 cents.

James Corum, high school senior and Nancy Allen, junior received honorable mention in the Worcester Math Fair into which entry was by invitation only.

Bill Harrison of Church Street was pictured building a fiber glass motorboat. The previous year he built a submarine.

Pictured was Ann Cavanaugh, daughter of Mrs. William Cavanaugh of Middlesex Avenue who was scheduled to graduate from Emerson College on June 11.

Patsy's Farm on Main Street was advertising flats of pansies 3/51.00.

Frankly speaking

by Kevin John Sowyrda

Nothing can beat a state political convention in Massachusetts. Regardless of which party you're talking about, conventions have been the traditional excuse for a few days of uninhibited hoopla. Of course, there is the paltry matter of nominating a slate of candidates for state-wide offices; but this comes second to the wine and cheese receptions, collecting campaign buttons, and telling everybody and their brother that you're with them all the way.

This year's State Democratic Convention, held at the Springfield Civic Center, took a slightly different approach. The leading cast at this largest of state political rallies included such prominent figures as Bob Crane, Evelyn Murphy and Gerry D'Amico, Jim Shannon, and, my good friend Mike 'Duke' Dukakis.

The slightly different approach began at the door with metal detectors. Delegates would have to leave their machine guns and rocket launchers in the car. Unfortunately, metal detectors just don't seem to go well in Springfield. I can picture them all over Chicago, but not Springfield, Mass. Also, someday someone is going to tell us walking through a metal detector causes cancer in laboratory mice. The Republican Convention at the Worcester Centrum didn't have metal detectors at the door. If there was anything they needed, it was magnets to draw people in.

Moving right along, the Democratic delegates took their places in the civic center, amidst every political sign in creation. I thought for sure that State Secretary Michael Connolly would use purple signs with black lettering. This would have earned him the attention he never seems to get.

As they became familiar with the surroundings, the delegates received a quick announcement from Bob Crane, convention chairman and state treasurer. All smoking was to be strictly prohibited. Now that's where I would have drawn the line. Personally I do not smoke. However, not allowing people to light up at a political convention is more awkward than closing the casinos in Las Vegas. The day of the "smoke filled room" was dead and gone, and people were beginning to see that this convention, metal detectors and all, was going to be strictly enforced.

The traditional speeches having been made, now it was time for the candidates to move into fourth gear. Before and during the balloting they all worked the crowd, hoping for the best results. However, former congressman Jim Shannon seemed a lot more relaxed than most. Last week, Jim was running for Attorney General. This is not to be confused with what Jim Shannon was running for the week before that. In any event, his only competition for the nomination was Jo Ann Shotwell, former assistant attorney general, who had peanuts for money compared to Shannon's campaign war chest. But, amazingly enough, Shotwell captured 37 percent of the delegate vote. Shannon still topped the ticket, and seemed to take the days events in complete stride.

The real contest of the day was D'Amico vs. Murphy for lieutenant governor. As these two candidates spoke to delegates concerning the importance of the office of lieutenant governor, I'm sure a few realized that we've all been living without one for well over a year now. Anyway, the speeches each candidate gave previous to the vote was what made the difference. D'Amico was powerful, and made you put down your pretzel and soda. But Murphy's speech was more appropriate for a D.A.R. tea party. Basically, Evelyn Murphy sounded like a female version of the governor -- dry and unmoving. The delegates wanted more, and they gave D'Amico 51 percent to Murphy's 48 percent, in what will be remembered for quite some time as a major upset.

Finally, the convention was ready to nominate its candidate for governor, incumbent Mike Dukakis. Mike had come a long way since the last convention in 1982. Eddie King isn't even a member of the party anymore. This was Mike Dukakis' show, and you could see his mark everywhere, from the metal detectors to the no smoking rule. The only things missing were seat belts, and state troopers wearing dark glasses.

Though the governor's speech was overshadowed by the events in the lieutenant governor's race, he was well received, with a huge balloon drop and all. And, the Dukakis re-election campaign was now under way, with the slogan "I'm With the Duke!". I think there are a lot of people who might have to give that one some thought.

Baldwin Apple Monument

An Eagle Scout's research on Baldwin Apple Monument

The original Baldwin apple tree was planted on a farm in Wilmington by Mr. William Butters who took the tree from what was known as Woodhill in the present town of Burlington. Mr. Butters set a high value upon the apple but allowed friends to cut scions from it for propagation. In time, the original tree became a favorite resort for woodpeckers, which suggested to Mr. Butters Woodpecker, or Pecker apples, names by which it was at that time commonly known, though it was sometimes called the Butters apple, and Mr. Butters, it is said, was very indignant on learning that the name of Baldwin had been substituted for his favorite one of Woodpecker.

Samuel Thompson of Woburn, while surveying a route for the Middlesex Canal, discovered one of the apple trees on Butters' land. His attention had been drawn to it by the number of woodpeckers which gathered about the tree on account of the apples. Mr. Thompson thought it a new variety, and as it pleased his taste, he called the attention of his neighbors to it and he and his brothers hastened to graft from it many trees on their own estates. The brothers were indefatigable in their efforts to disseminate it far and wide, and for miles around the people secured scions and grafted their trees.

A neighbor and friend of the Thompsons, Col. Laommi Baldwin showed the fruit to his many guests who came from distant parts of the country and this did much for the spread of the apple's fame, which in a few years became known as the Baldwin.

The granite shaft was erected by the Rumford Historical Association of Woburn in honor of Thompson's discovery of the first Baldwin apple tree. The monument stated, "This pillar erected in 1895 by the Rumford Historical Association incorporated April 28, 1877 marks the estate where in 1793 Samuel Thompson Esq., while locating the line of the Middlesex Canal, discovered the first pecker apple tree, later named the Baldwin." In 1974 the inscription was renewed stating, "This monument marks the site of the first Baldwin apple tree found growing wild near here. It fell in the gale of 1815. The apple first known as the Butters, Woodpecker, or Pecker apple was named after Col. Laommi Baldwin of Woburn."

Since the first day Mr. Butters found the apple tree to today, the community of Wilmington has had a pride in the Baldwin apple, and now the Baldwin Apple Monument, a treasured symbol of Wilmington's historical past.

O'Donnell family has two Eagle Scouts

by Arlene Surprenant
A local 17 year old boy has recently reached the highest plateau in the Boy Scout program - that of Eagle Scout - and was honored Monday night at a special Court of Honor for attaining his goal.

To achieve that status, Dan O'Donnell of Jaquith Road, Wilmington had to work his way up through the ranks to earn 21 merit badges. He also was required to take on a project which would better the community. Thus it was that the soft-spoken young man undertook yet another responsibility.

According to Dan, a story in the Town Crier a while back about "the run down condition" of the town's Baldwin Apple Monument led to his decision to beautify and maintain the monument and surrounding area for an approximate two year period.

"I figured this would help solve the town's problem for a few years," Dan says, though he adds that he didn't realize the difficulties at first, especially when he faced some vandalism at the outset.

Initially, he contacted Town Manager Buzz Stapczynski and Glen Harmon, president of the Rumford

Historical Society which is charged with the monument's upkeep, to obtain their permission and advice. He was able to purchase flowers, mulch, and barberry bushes at cut-rate prices and started overturning a triangular section around the granite shaft for plantings.

Next, he and neighbor Roger Metcalf made not one but two signs for the monument when the first one was ripped down by vandals. Now that the "toughest" work is behind him, Dan just plans to mow the surrounding lawn on weekends and change the present tulips to marigolds or "something of that nature" in the fall.

Perhaps the hardest part of the whole project was researching the story of the Baldwin Apple. Once he started digging into the apple's background at the town library, Dan realized just how hard it would be to piece together the several conflicting stories. But with determination, he managed to come up with a credible account of the apple's history and discovery by William Butters.

Dan is currently a junior at Wilmington High School and has not only been active in scouts since his Cub Scout days, but is involved in a number of other activities and organizations as well.

He throws shot put for the school's track team and is a member of both the winter and spring teams. He was one of the participants at the recent Model Congress held in Springfield. Both the Student Council and Science Club claim him as a member and he likes to draw in his spare time, especially architectural and mechanical renderings which give a clue to his future plans to be a mechanical engineer. On top of everything else, he holds down a part time job behind the deli counter at Farmer in the Del.

In Troop 58, Dan is a Junior Assistant Scout Master. He tells of past camping experiences, especially the Camporee in Tewksbury last year which he called "unbelievable." He reflects on the opportunity scouting gives boys to "learn for life," explaining that some of the required badges are in the area of citizenship, safety, emergency preparedness, personal management, and environmental science. He quietly touches on his nervousness and pride in accepting accolades from family and friends at Monday's Court of Honor.

"I feel kind of proud as this is really a family award," Dan says with a smile. He credits his mom, Christine, with motivating and supporting him over the years and being the driving force in keeping him in scouting, even when many of his friends were dropping out. In fact, he explains, his whole family has become involved in scouting in one way or another.

Dan follows in the footsteps of his 19 year old brother Bill who became an Eagle Scout just last year. His father, James, had been a Cub Scout pack leader at one time while his mom presently serves in an advisory capacity on a troop committee. His 14 year old sister, Jennifer, had been active in the Girl Scout program, but she has since dropped out.

Recognition by friends, teachers and coaches, and local and state officials as well as speeches and refreshments were the order of the night Monday as Dan was honored for his hard work and accomplishments.

"This is a once-in-a-lifetime type thing," explains Dan. Maybe so. But there's no doubt in the minds of those who know him that there will surely be other honors in this young man's future in the years ahead.

Troop 58 has been amazingly successful in bringing scouts to the level of Eagle. Troop leaders were able to name 16 Eagle Scouts within the past 20 years.

Eagle badge

Dan O'Donnell receives his Eagle Scout badge from his mother, while his father and Scoutmaster Roy Crane look on.

Engineer asks for more help

Because of the lack of help and time constraints, required inspections on new subdivisions are not being done and "sooner or later someone is going to get hurt," town engineer Robert Higgins told the selectmen Monday during a department update.

Higgins blamed the loss of an inspector four years ago, lack of clerical help, and the recent influx of subdivisions for most of the problems his department has had since 1982.

The only hope he has, and a solution which has "worked so far," Higgins said, is that developers will continue to do a proper job in putting up their subdivisions. However, he added, he has received "a great deal of criticism" for this stop-gap measure.

The town has tried to hire another inspector, said Town Manager Buzz Stapczynski, but there has been "little or no" response to ads because developers who might apply are making more money elsewhere.

Jim Stewart suggested hiring an outside consultant to fill in on a temporary basis. Because the need is "immediate" and the taxpayer should be protected, he said, he agreed they should look into an idea by Anne Linehan to hire a retired person with a knowledge of engineering.

Higgins stresses his staff has qualifications "far and above" those in other towns, a statement which led Robert Doucette to ask "how can you have so many overqualified people that are not getting the work done?"

Rocco DePasquale said his board had received complaints that Higgins and his staff are unavailable and all too often the office door is locked against residents who don't know where to turn.

Dogs in pound

The Wilmington dog officer is presently holding the following dogs in the town dog pound:

Male mix-breed, black with white on tip of tail, picked up near Faulkner Ave. on May 20.

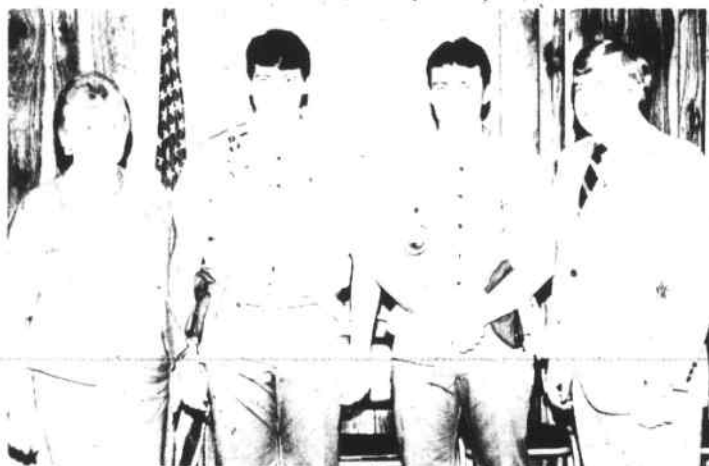

Male doberman (?), black & tan, long ears & tail, picked up on May 14 on Fordham Road.

The dog officer has a listing on a young gray female tiger cat, picked up May 9 on Maple Street.

The dog officer can be reached by calling the police station business line at 658-5071 or 5072.

Scouts present for Dan O'Donnell's Eagle Court of Honor was John Green, national president of the Boy Scouts of America.

Double Eagle family

Christine and Jim O'Donnell pose with their two sons, Dan and Bill, both Eagle Scouts. Two other Wilmington families, the Pelletiers and the Elahertys, have two Eagle Scouts. One family, the Kaminskis, has three. All of them were or are scouts in Troop 58 at St. Dorothy's Church.

Tewksbury Methodist Church

Nineteen eighty-six happens to be the 75th anniversary year for the Tewksbury United Methodist Church. The visit of the Interfaith Choir, last Sunday was a regularly scheduled one, but at the same time, a part of the observance of the anniversary year.

The Rev. Lorimer Sargeant, who served in the Tewksbury pulpit in 1937-38 will preach on Sunday, Sept. 14.

The Rev. James Swartz, pastor in 1968-1974 is to be the preacher on December 14.

A concert is to be held in the church on September 21, which will feature the singing of Pamela Ryder.

The Rev. Richard Evans, former pastor of the Methodist Church in Wilmington, is now the assistant to Bishop George Bashore of Boston. He is serving as chairman of the planning committee for the 75th anniversary of the Tewksbury church.

The church sanctuary is to be remodelled during the summer months, and outside an exterior lift is to be installed, to assist handicapped persons into the church.

The highlight of the year is to be Saturday, November 1 and Sunday, November 2.

On November 1 the celebration banquet is planned, probably to be in a Wilmington clubhouse. The Rev. Jack Tuell, who was pastor of the Tewksbury church in 1953-55 will be the principal speaker. The Rev. Mr. Tuell is now the Methodist Bishop in Los Angeles.

The Rev. Bishop George Bashore will be the speaker on November, 2nd.

Several previous ministers of the church are scheduled to appear, in addition to those who have already visited this year.

Brass duo

Music by Doug Haslam, trumpet and Chuck DeMille, trombone, as the Interfaith Choir proceeds into the church. Norm DeMarais is the director.

You were an old timer, last Sunday, if you got your picture taken with the Rev. and Mrs. Robert Hannun, at the Tewksbury United Methodist Church. Mr. Hannun, who was pastor from 1961 to 1965, was guest preacher at the 10 a.m. service, Sunday.

National Honor Society inducts 27 Wilmington students

The ceremony is an annual one, but it is always impressive. The group is large, yet select.

The induction ceremony for new members of the National Honor Society of Wilmington High School was held Wednesday, May 7 at the Wilmington Knights of Columbus Hall. Twenty-four juniors and three seniors were inducted.

This year, the society had a change in its charter, which now calls for the society to provide a service to the school and the community. The W.H.S. chapter ran a phone-a-thon for the Heart Fund, which they plan to repeat next year.

WHS senior Patricia Savosik, served as toastmistress for the induction ceremony. She in turn introduced four students to speak on the four ideals of the society, Stathis Feizidis on scholarship, Susan Richardson on service, Lawrence King on leadership and Tracy Smith on character.

Following this, each present Honor Society member introduced an inductee. Tina Allan, Jennifer Armstrong, Chris Athanasia, Peter Campbell, Mary Lou Cunningham, Anthony Cutone, Lisa Cutone, Trevor Deegan, Karen DeFronzo, James DeLap, Keley DeLuca, Frank Dinsmore, Stathis Feizidis, Nancy Fillio, Ellen Grinder, Sharon Hayward, Lawrence King, Jeanne Neville, Eric Ouellette, Albert Prescott, Susan Richardson, Michelle Roney, Patricia Savosik, Susan Scott, Tracy Smith, Eric Torelli, Susan Valletta.

Each inductee, as they were announced, received a candle, lit from one of the main candles representing scholarship, service, leadership and character. From Mr. John Lynch, each received a pin, and from Mrs. Carol King, honor society advisor, each received a membership card. Holly Durette, Maura McDonald and Brian Murphy are the three seniors inducted to the National Honor Society and the following are the new junior members:

National Honor Society members

National Honor Society members line up on the ramp at the Wilmington Knights of Columbus Hall following the May 7 installation. The group is made up of juniors and seniors who are academically at the top of their classes.

Lisa Cutone receives scholarship from National Honor Society

Competing against 14,000 students from throughout the United States, Lisa Cutone, a Wilmington High School senior, has received a $1000 National Honor Society scholarship, sponsored by the National Association of Secondary School Principals (NASSP) and the L.G. Balfour Foundation.

Lisa, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Cutone, is one of 450 winners announced by the National Association of Secondary School Principals.

Each high school NHS chapter could nominate two senior students based on their leadership, scholastic achievement, character, and service. Nominees submitted a form outlining their participation in school organizations and clubs, academic accomplishments, employment experience, and community service.

"Lisa has demonstrated outstanding ability in her academic work and service to her school and community," said Scott Thomson, executive director, NASSP. She's a fine example of the outstanding calibre of young people in America's high schools."

While at WHS, Lisa has been secretary to the class of 1986 all four years, she has been captain of the tennis and field hockey teams, a member of the Math Honor Society, chairman of the prom committee and the Student Advisory Board, a member of the Church

Youth Organization, she was the December '85 student of the month, and a junior rotarian. Lisa has also been very successful in athletics.

She has been captain of the tennis team for the past three years, during which time she has been named Lowell Sun Player of the Year, the league and team M.V.P., and the state quarterfinalist. Also she has yet to lose a match or a set in her high school career, with a record of 64-0. As captain of field hockey, Lisa led her team to the conference championships. She was named to the All-Conference All-Star and Lowell Sun All-League teams. This fall she plans to attend Harvard University to study medicine or government.

The June 4 luncheon will "kick-off" the 1986 Fourth of July celebration. The committee is moving full-speed ahead planning for this year's week-long festivities at the town common.

Paper work

Dave O'Rourke's dog "Bridget" brought her own papers to the Wilmington rabies clinic, held Saturday at the highway barn. Dave was carrying the real papers -- Bridget was only carrying a flattened paper cup.

Ouch!

Dr. Richard Hahn (right) was in charge of giving the dogs the needle.

Lucky dog

Rena Percuso was one of 152 people who had their dogs inoculated for rabies at a clinic on Saturday. Her pooch is named "Lucky."

Prayer To The Holy Spirit

Oh Holy Spirit, thou who art all knowing, who brightens every path that I may reach my idea, thou who givest me this divine gift of forgiving and forgetting wrongs done unto me and who in every instant of my life art with me. I'd like in this short dialogue to affirm my gratitude for all your blessings and reaffirm once again that I never want to part from thee though the illusion of material things abound.

My desire is to be with thee and all my loved ones in perpetual grace. Thank you for your mercy on me and mine. (Person should pray 3 consecutive days without revealing petition. Within three days grace will be attained regardless of how difficult the petition may be.)

Publish this prayer, once grace attained.
Grateful for Grace attained.

Tewksbury residents named to Regional Health Center board

Two Tewksbury residents have been appointed to the Community Board of Directors of the Regional Health Center in Wilmington (RHCW).

They are Anthony W. Cronin of 8 March Rd., and Mico Kaufman of 23 Marion Drive.

Mr. Cronin is employed by Purity Supreme Produce Department in Chelmsford. Prior to joining Purity, he was produce manager for John's Fruitland in Tewksbury.

Born in Tewksbury, Mr. Cronin graduated from Keith Academy in 1954 and attended the University of Lowell. He served with the U.S. National Guard from 1952 to 1962.

Active in the Boy Scouts of America, he is district commissioner for Tewksbury. For several years, Mr. Cronin conducted classes in effective parenting.

The board meets monthly to discuss and decide policies and issues facing the Health Center. Representatives on the board come from area communities including Wilmington, Tewksbury, Andover and North Reading.

Mr. Kaufman, who studied at the Academy of Fine Arts in Rome and Florence, Italy, is a well-known sculptor whose major works include portrait busts, miniatures, and medals.

He was chosen to create the official medal for President Ronald Reagan's second Inaugural, and has also completed medals commemorating the inauguration of President Gerald Ford, and honoring the late Presidents, Lyndon B. Johnson and Harry S. Truman.

His portrait busts include one of Arthur Fieldler, late conductor of the Boston Pops, and Dr. An Wang, chairman of Wang Laboratories. Mr. Kaufman has composed miniatures of many historic figures including Betsy Ross and a set of 12 people of the West.

An exhibitor in many regional and international shows, examples of his work are on permanent display at the Smithsonian Institute in Washington, D.C.. Mr. Kaufman has also taught at the New England School of Art in Boston and the Boston Center for Adult education.

The RHCW Community Board of Directors has been instrumental in shaping the growth and development of the Health Center, and continues to play an active role in its operation.

How to speak to Lions

Ricky McClellan, a firefighter with the Wilmington Fire Department spoke on fire prevention and emergency services on May 14, to the Tewksbury Lions Club.

The part the Lions liked best was when he donned a Scott air pack to demonstrate how it keeps smoke and/or gasses away, by virtue of superior air pressure. The Lions pretended they could not hear Ricky speak.

Accreditation committees seated for Wilmington schools

On Wednesday afternoon, April 30, the initial meeting for the Wilmington Elementary School Accreditation project took place in the Shawsheen School Library. Three individual steering committees have been established to guide the accreditation process during the next 18 months. The committee members are:

Shawsheen School: Martha Mahoney, chairman; Robert Peterson, school committee member; Robert Barrett, principal; Judy Creeden, grade one teacher; Nancy Weems, grade six teacher; Janet Cahill, parent; Joanne Neale, parent.

Wildwood School: Patricia Souza, chairman; Shirley F. Callan, school committee member; Mary Driscoll, principal; Bunny

Kelley, grade three teacher; Carol Hayes, physical education teacher; Stephanie Meegan, parent.

Woburn Street School: Robert Arseneault, chairman; Mitchell J. Spiris, school committee member; Dolores Silva, principal; Joan F. Walsh, grade four teacher; Christine Bucuvalas, reading specialist; Karen Armata, parent; Roberta Marino, parent.

These committees will be studying school/community relationships, philosophy and objectives of the schools, curriculum, staff and administration, facilities, and atmosphere. Many subcommittees will be established. Interested citizens should contact chairmen of the individual steering committees.

Tewksbury library set to join the Electronic Age

by Bill Conlon

After a few more equipment connections are made, the Tewksbury public library will join the electronic age, according to library director Elisabeth Desmarais.

The new equipment, which she said is already on hand, will allow the Harold J. Patten Public Library to communicate electronically with the 14 other libraries making up the Merrimack Valley Library Consortium.

According to Desmarais, the computer system will give the library complete access to the more than 1.5 million titles now on file with Consortium member libraries. She said the Tewksbury library now has 43,000 titles on hand. Once the system is on line, she said, Tewksbury patrons will be able to request books from any other library in the Consortium.

"This is a more cost-effective way of doing what we do," Desmarais said, "freeing us up for more people-oriented things." The library director said the new computer system will do the equivalent work of "two new part-time employees."

For example, using the current filing system, overdue books are noted by laboriously sifting through racks of cards. Desmarais said the new system will pinpoint overdue books, and who has them, with just a few taps on a keyboard. The system will also handle information searches, title and author searches and an assortment of other functions.

Part of the changeover involves placing bar code labels on all materials now in the library. Bar code labels resemble the UPC codes found in supermarkets. The black and white striped tags will be read by a laser-beam reader which, Desmarais noted, is much quicker than writing down the filing number of the book. Checkout time for a book under the new system is only a matter of seconds.

Desmarais said that only 6,800 of the Patten library's 43,000 titles are now bar coded. The re-filing should be finished by the time the computer comes on line, she said.

Consortium member libraries include Andover, Billerica, Chelmsford, Dracut, Hamilton, Haverhill, Lawrence, Lowell, Methuen, North Andover, North Reading, Wenham and Westford. The public library in Wilmington is also preparing to join the Consortium, Desmarais said. Once the conversion is complete, patrons will have access to materials from any of the Consortium libraries, "with complete reciprocity," she said.

Desmarais noted that the final connections to the new system will probably be completed in June.

William C. Blades

William C. Blades of Tewksbury, died at St. John's Hospital, Lowell on Friday.

Mr. Blades, 85 years of age, was born in South Boston, the son of the late Anna (McCarthy) and the late Ralph Blades. He spent his youth in Maine, and lived in the Wilmington area before moving to Tewksbury 30 years ago.

Mr. Blades was employed as a pipe fitter for many years for the Fay Plumbing and Hearing Co. in Medford. He was a U.S. Naval veteran, having served during World War I.

He was the widower of Edith A. (Meuse) Blades who died six months ago and is survived by his eight children: Mrs. Mary Casey of Troy, New York, William C. Jr. and Mrs. Theresa McCall of Billerica, Ralph and Richard J. of Melrose, Donald H. of Fremont, N.H., Edward A. Blades of Tewksbury, Mrs. Peggy Thebearge of Somerville. Forty-three grandchildren and 47 great-grandchildren also survive.

The funeral was held from the W.S. Cavanaugh & Son Funeral Home on Tuesday followed by a funeral mass at St. William's Church, Tewksbury at 10:00. Interment followed in Wildwood Cemetery, Wilmington.

THANKSGIVING NOVENA TO ST. JUDE

Oh Holy St. Jude, Apostle and Martyr, great in virtue and rich in miracles, near kinsman of Jesus Christ, faithful intercessor of all who invoke your special patronage in time of need, to you I have recourse from the depth of my heart and humbly beg to whom God has given such great power to come to my assistance.

Help me in my present and urgent petition, in return, I promise to make your name known, and cause you to be invoked.

Say three Our Fathers, three Hail Marys and Glorias. Publication must be promised. St. Jude pray for us and all who invoke your aid. Amen. This Novena has never been known to fail. I have had my request granted.
Publication promised.

Sal Salamone is a man with a lot of service

Tewksbury doesn't seem to have a "good guy award" such as is given in some other communities. If such an award were ever to be considered one of the candidates could be Liberio A. Salamone of Texas Road.

Salamone, sometimes called "Sal," has for about 20 years been the director of the 4-H Photo Club, and has been in that same period of time, the Photography Department chairman of the annual 4-H Fair.

He has served for many years as a Cub Master, and as a Boy Scout Merit Badge counselor, for troop 49, at St. William's Church.

He has served over 10 years as the play director of the Couples Club at the Tewksbury United Methodist Church. He also has served as entertainment director for youth groups in social and religious organizations.

Sal has more to his credit than the work he has done in Tewksbury.

You might say it started when he joined the U.S. Army in January 1942. Sal was a young man then, living in East Boston. He was assigned, after basic training, to the 179th regiment. He ended up in the First Battalion HQ (headquarters) Company, and underwent training in Army Intelligence.

In May 1943 the 178th landed in Oran, Algeria (North Africa). He was the Intelligence Non-Commissioned officer in the First Battalion of the 179th Regiment, 45th Division.

The 45th was composed of mostly National Guardsmen from Oklahoma. It earned a tradition as a fighting division, in Italy during the war.

Sal, while in Oran, attended a briefing on the coming invasion of Sicily. It was conducted by General Omar Bradley and General George S. Patton.

The 179th landed at a place called Carlonazetta, in Sicily, during the Sicilian invasion. Just as a matter of coincidence, he knew of that village, for it was there that his parents had been born. They were now residents of East Boston.

Sal and his comrade had no time to look up relatives. They swept across Sicily, driving the German forces ahead of them. In less than a month it was over.

Then it was on to Salerno, the famous Salerno Beachhead, south of Naples. The commanding general was Lt. General Mark Clark.

Sal was in the first wave. He was ahead of everyone else. He got to the top of a hill, to a farmhouse, where he was to establish an observer post. Unfortunately, at least in a sense, he got tangled up in a pig pen. The pigs were crawling around, and Sal's telephone wire was all tangled up.

Ahead of him he could see German tanks and artillery. He called upon the phone. Sal was somewhat excited, as can be expected, crawling around in a pig pen.

The captain with whom he was talking calmed him down, by making him recite the Twenty-third Psalm, over an over. It was quite an experience.

Then Sal was able to give them "coordinates" over the telephone, to tell the American HQ where the Germans were. Artillery, mortars, and ship based fire was the result, and the tanks and German infantry were destroyed.

It was an all day job, with Sal on the telephone giving the coordinates, and the US artillery delivering their messages.

Sal was evacuated in the evening. The American troops were pulled out of that particular part of the beach.

But a few days later he was sent to report to Lt. General Mark Clark. Clark made a special mission, to get into the area.

Clark, in person, pinned the Silver Star on the uniform of Liberio Salamone. The award, said Clark, was for "Gallantry in Action."

Sal served with the 45th Division in Italy, as it and other soldiers tried to fight their way up the center of that country. It was rough going.

Then came the Anzio Beachhead. The American Army was going to make an "end run" around the Germans, and land on a beach near Rome.

Anzio, it turned out, was a slow and costly fight. The Germans, with "interior" lines, were able to transfer troops in time to prevent the invasion from becoming a success.

Sal, again, was in the front line. This time he was wounded, and became a German prisoner.

From early February 1944 to late April 1945, Liberio Salamone was in German prisoner-of-war camps -- the so-called Stalags. It wasn't pleasant, but the German Army did observe the Geneva Convention, and about every six weeks he did receive a parcel from home.

At one time he suspected he was about 45 miles south of Berlin, but he was never certain.

As a POW he didn't just sit around. Soon he had entertainments going, using the American prisoners as actors and musicians. He later received a special "Letter of Commendation" for his efforts.

And, when the Americans were freed Sal kept up in the entertainment world. He toured the Army camps in France, and the hospitals, with cheer for the GIs.

Sal was awarded his Purple Heart in a military hospital, near LeHarve, in France, and he and other wounded were prepared for transportation to the United States. He was transferred to Southampton, England, and was there when the Germans surrendered.

Sal was on a Victory troop transport, in Southampton, from the weeks the Americans could watch their British comrades celebrate the end of the war. The American troops were not allowed ashore. The ship soon sailed, and on May 20, 1945 it entered the port of New York.

The blast of sirens, and the sprays of water from the fire boats of New York harbor were their escorts, as they entered their home country again. That was 41 years ago.

Memorial Day is, for Sal, not a day to mourn the dead, but a day to celebrate with the living. He has done so on many occasions, and hopes to, for many years more.

Linehan urges task force on drug and alcohol abuse

The idea of forming a townwide task force to set up a five year program to combat the dangers of alcohol and drug abuse was brought to selectmen's attention Monday night by Chemical People Chairman Anne Linehan.

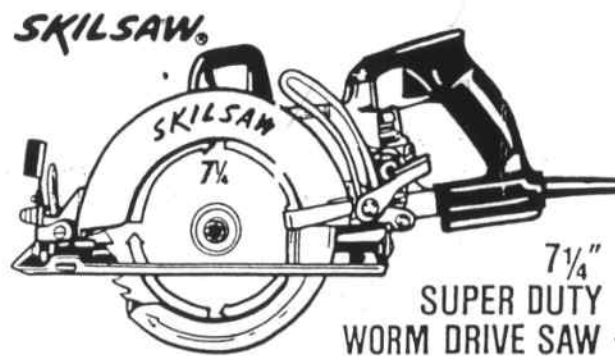

Linehan told the board of selectmen one in six families are affected by "the disease of alcoholism" and Wilmington should take steps now to "try to break that cycle." She added that children in town are "suffering" from abuse and subsequent violence in families and 43 incidents of abuse have been reported since the school system's drug and alcohol policy went into effect.

As Chemical People chairman, she added, she has helped keep the awareness campaign alive by "sheer tenacity" and now it was time for others in town to share more of the responsibility. She stressed the need, also, for monies to fund possible educational programs sponsored by Wilmington Family Counseling Service and the police department's Juvenile Diversion program.

It was agreed that an invitation would go to all interested boards and organizations to set up an initial meeting prior to the selectmen's meeting in June.

Prom royalty

The Tewksbury Memorial High School Class of 1986 held their prom on Monday night at the Burlington Marriott. Surrounded by their court is prom queen Eileen Torode (wearing the tiara) and prom king Jeff Smith. Those in attendance said the prom was a memorable occasion.

Tewksbury youth speaks fluent Russian

Tewksbury resident Eric Szmyt has been elected to membership in Slava, the National High School Slavic Honor Society. He won this honor by his work in Russian, which he has been studying at Austin Preparatory School for the past two years. Slava is an organization which honors outstanding work in the study of Slavic languages. Szmyt is the son of Mr. & Mrs. Augustine Szmyt of Shawsheen St. in Tewksbury. At Austin Prep he has been a member of the Russian Club for the past two years. He has participated in Russian Club field trips to Washington D.C., Amherst, Cambridge, Andover and other places. He participates each year in the New England Olympiads of Spoken Russian, and is a member of the advanced group of Austin Prep's second-year Russian class. At Austin Prep, Szmyt is also the vice president of the Science Club and active in the Honors Help Club, Board Game Club and Photography Club. Formal induction into Slava will take place at Austin's annual Awards Night Program this spring.

point of view

Hey, no rubbernecking

The highway is no place for stupidity, but that has never stopped Yankee drivers from being a notoriously dense bunch at times.

Driving home after work last week, it was my misfortune to spot a string of glowing tail lights up ahead. After reciting the ancient litany of, "Oh no, not an accident," there was nothing else I could do but take my place in line and inch slowly homeward.

The long steel line crawled up the interstate. Three lanes of cars and trucks around me provided the usual "gridlock" amusements, such as watching the morons cut through the breakdown lane to gain perhaps ten carlengths on the competition, only to be denied entry into the lane and lose eight of the lengths again. Or the drone of some bemused onlooker in a helicopter saying, via the radio, "There appears to be a major slowdown on Route ..." That guy in the sky is lucky to be above this mess.

Being trapped in traffic is a grim form of punishment. The line keeps creeping along, so you can't quite sit back and read the paper, but it moves so slowly that it gets isn't amusing. Simply put, there's nothing to do but stare and swear. If there was ever a good time for a car-phone, this is it.

And on we creep. The only thing to ponder is the nature of the accident up ahead. Is it an overturned tank truck blocking the lane? Maybe a train derailed and skidded across the pavement. Since the traffic is still creeping it can't be too serious or the lane would have been blocked. Hmmm.

At last we approach the scene. The flashing blue up ahead can only mean a Statie. So it is an accident. Sure enough, there's the flashing yellow -- must be a wrecker. After creeping for more than a mile it's a minor relief to finally reach the point of disaster.

Then it hits me. There is indeed an accident, but the damn thing is on the other side of the highway! Not so much as a stray hubcap is on my side of the interstate! Then what's the holdup?

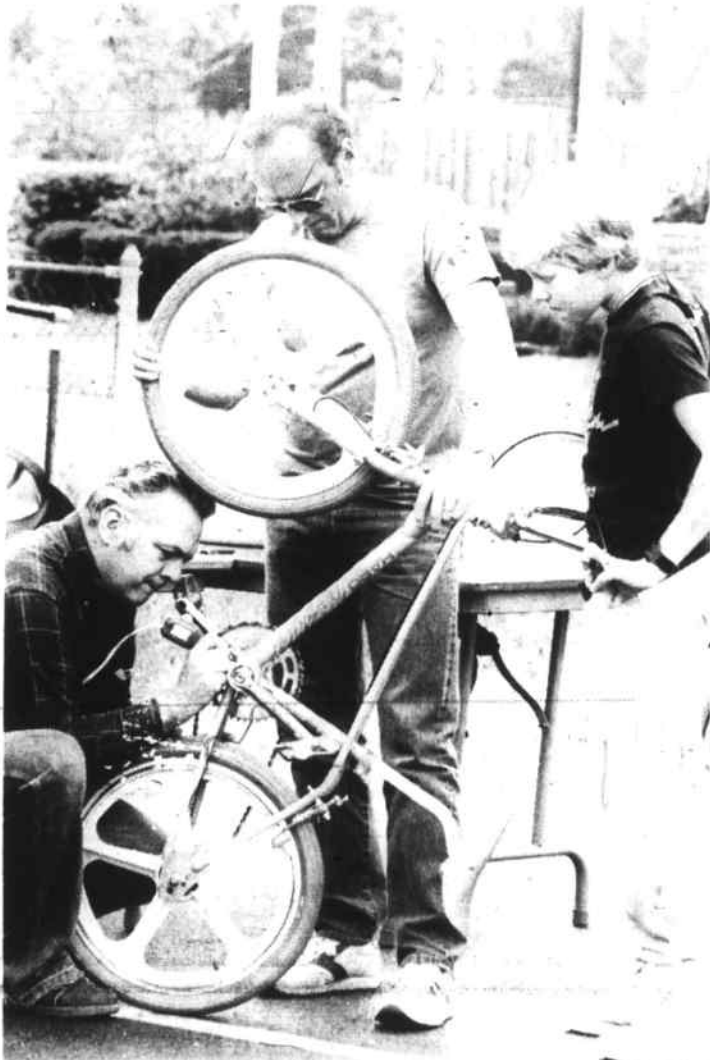

Rubberneckers. Gawkers. As I pass the accident scene I dutifully twist my neck and look, just like everyone else. Normal enough. But I see enough in the first half-second to satisfy my curiosity, unlike the other drivers around me.

Then Presto! the traffic resumes normal speed and off we go again.

Of all the stupid things to do, this takes the cake. Sure I looked at the accident -- everyone does. But there was no reason on Earth for every driver in the line to pull to a virtual stop, like pilgrims stopping to pray at a roadside shrine.

Rush-hour traffic is bad enough. Sitting in a stationary car, wondering if jogging to work would be quicker, is a depressing waste of time. And when the reason for the delay is nothing more than morbid curiosity, then that's criminally stupid.

Maybe I'm just a farm boy who doesn't appreciate the vagaries of commuting. But that sure struck me as a ridiculous way to waste an hour of my life. Drivers, please keep 'em rolling.

Bike clinic

Wilmington Kiwanians teamed up with members of the Wilmington Police Association to run a bicycle clinic on Saturday at the Fourth of July Headquarters. Joey Wright was one of the few who showed up. Kiwanis President Bob Tilton steadied the bike, while Officer Joe Waterhouse engraved a number on it.

Wilmington Youth Soccer

Girls knot Reading, 1-1

Girls under 16

The third game of the Wilmington Youth Soccer season resulted in a 1-1 tie with Reading United at Shawsheen field. Debbie Dellascio scored midway in the first half for the initial lead.

Reading United had the field advantage in the second half however, and was able to score against a strong defensive effort by Wilmington.

Denise Cosgrove and Christine Bonarrigo shared the keeper's duties and were also strong fullbacks in turning back the Reading United attack.

Kristen Catanzano and Karen Lynch contributed super efforts from the halfback position in launching offensive attacks. Missy Jamerson, Terry Murray, Beth Sheehan and Sheri Lucchini were particularly effective in the offensive end for Wilmington.

The fourth game found Wilmington at North Reading on Mothers' Day. Wilmington was victorious by a 4-1 score in this encounter. It was a total team victory. The centering and crossing in front of the North Reading goal was something to behold. The first score came from an excellent throw-in by Karen Lynch to Jennifer DelNinno, who then passed to an open Lori Cirmier who made the goal.

The next goal was by Jennifer DelNinno, with an excellent assist from Terry Murray. The third score came on a reverse of roles, with Jennifer DelNinno feeding Terry Murray, who kicked the goal.

The final goal came on a superlative effort by Kristen Southmayd, who passed to Debbie Dellascio, who then booted the ball into North Reading's net.

Julie Callahan, Karen Lynch, Amy LaBossiere and Kim Bentley were very effective midfielders. Barbara Langone and Susan Killilea were strong fullbacks in cutting short North Reading's attacks.

Denise Cosgrove was excellent in net throughout the first half, stopping many shots on goal. Kristin Catanzano and Terry Murray shared the keeper's duties very effectively in the second half.

Boys under 14

The boys squad has played three games in the last two weeks, winning all three. The first game was a well played 3-1 win over Stoneham. Goals were scored by Andy Parr (two) and Scott Brennan.

Great games were turned in by halfbacks Victor Pacheco and Dennis Walsh. Forward Jerry Driscoll also played well, threatening the Stoneham defense several times.

The second game was a 3-0 victory over Bedford. Goals were scored by Eric Creeth (two) and Mark Bobek.

Fullbacks Kevin Barrett, Brian McDonald, David DiCenso and Brian Gillespie were strong all day, thwarting all Bedford attempts to muster an offense.

Right wing Ryan Churchill played a strong game, continually leading the attack into the Bedford end of the field.

The third game was another victory over Stoneham, 5-1. Goals were scored by Andy Parr (three) and Bobby Surran (two). Halfbacks Richie Barletta and Matt McManus played excellent games, both just missing goals.

Forward George Driscoll played most of the second half, doing an excellent job keeping Stoneham bottled up in their own end.

Wilmington's record is now 4-1 after the three victories.

Girls Under 14 II

The Wilmington II defense stopped the Wakefield II offense for the first 35 minutes of play. The aggressive play of fullbacks Kathy Herson, Jen Hayden, Kim Holman and Tara Penez did not allow the Wakefield team to set up in front of the Wilmington goal.

Becky Powers played her best game in goal, making many difficult saves in a scoreless first half. Halfbacks Michelle Deveau, Jill Suprenant and Melissa Gately forced Wakefield into long passes

Young Redmen struggle to split

The Redmen baseball squad went 1-1 last week, beating Andover 4-3 in eight innings and losing to Lawrence 8-5 in a close contest.

Tewksbury fell behind 8-2 in the fourth inning and had to fight to get back into the game. In the top of the sixth Lawrence walked the bases full and Chris Mader responded with a two run single to make it 8-5.

In the top of the seventh, the Redmen again threatened with the bases loaded and the 2B Brien of Lawrence made a spectacular diving catch off the bat of Greg Parke to stop a big inning.

Thursday's contest with Andover was one of the Redmen's finest games of the year in the field and at the plate. Defensively, 3B Pat Brooks excelled and had the game winning RBI for the Redmen.

Tewksbury took an early 2-0 lead in the top of the second with DH Charlie Gath (3/4) leading off with a single, Brooks walking, both runners being sacrificed to second and third, 2B John Miller (a freshman being called up from the JV's.) hitting a sharp RBI single and a perfect suicide bunt being laid down by SS Jeff Smith for the two runs.

Andover responded with a run in the bottom of the second and one in the bottom of the fifth to tie it, 2-2. Tewksbury then led off the sixth with a booming triple by Charlie Gath and another perfect suicide squeeze laid down by Pat Brooks. Andover tied it in the bottom of the sixth with back to back doubles.

The Redmen led the eighth off with a long double by Chris Mader, a single by Gath and the winning sacrifice fly by Brooks. Winning pitcher Doug Boudreau (3W-3L) cruised into the eighth, stopping Andover for the complete game victory.

The Redmen host Billerica at Tewksbury Wednesday and then travel to Greater Lawrence Friday for a non-league game.

The Redmen began a recent week with a tough 3-2 loss to the Wilmington Wildcats in 10 innings.

Rangers drub TMHS girls

Last week the Methuen Rangers defeated Tewksbury by the decisive score of 94-42. All the lopsidedness came in the field events in which Methuen clobbered the home team, 52-2. On the running track, Tewksbury held its' own quite nicely, scoring 40 points to Methuen's 42.

In spite of the loss, several Tewksbury girls recorded some outstanding achievements. Paula Torode led off the running events with a convincing win in the two mile. Taking a commanding lead early in the race, Paula went on to her best time of the season, a very fine 12:58.

Chris Blake, Tewksbury's fine sprinter-middle distance runner, managed her best time in both the 100 and 440. Her 13.3 in the 100 and 62.9 in the 440 would have won most dual meets, but got her only second places against the tough Methuen team.

Peggy Forsyth got locked into an exciting dual with the top miler from Methuen. The lead changed hands three times during the last lap, but Peggy had the strength at the end to nail down first place with a great finishing kick.

In the 880, Krissie Connor continued her dramatic improvement, as she cut her time another four seconds to record a very fast 2:27.9. As if to prove how difficult this meet was, her Methuen opponent also ran her best time for a 2:27.8.

Several other Tewksbury girls recorded their best performances and scored points. Lori Fitzsimmons continued to improve in the shot put and grabbed third place; Claire Tremblay made a dramatic improvement in the 300 low hurdles to take third; Jeanne Muise cut her mile time down to get a third in that event, with the ever-improving Crissy Juskiewicz right behind her; Amy DiGiorgio ran her best hurdles race to get second in the 100 lows, and a strong 220 to get second there; Sue McLaughlin ran her best 880 of the season to take third place; Kellie Lightfoot ran a very strong 440 in the mile relay to help that team win; and Justine Short ran her best 220 of the season to win that event.

Altogether, the Tewksbury team was not too discouraged after the

Fleming, O'Connor combine for no-hitter

Major League A's 6 Tigers 0

Bobby Fleming and Judy O'Connor combined to pitch a no-hitter against the Tigers in a Saturday morning contest. Bobby pitched four innings, facing 14 batter, striking out nine, while Judy faced seven batters, striking out five. Bobby Fales, John Burke, Steve Burns and Kevin Murray supplied the power for the A's.

Red Sox 2 Tigers 1

In a pitching duel, the Red Sox were able to defeat the Tigers, 2-1. Matthew LaCava and Brian Oxman combined to allow just five hits and only one run. Knocking in the tying run and scoring the winning run was Matthew LaCava.

Excellent defensive plays were turned in by Richie Barletta, John Lynch and Eric Creeth, who threw out the tying run at secondbase.

Jason Early pitched an excellent game for the Tigers, striking out 12 batters and allowing only four hits. The Tiger offense was supplied by Mike Gaglionne, John O'Reilly and Jim McHugh, who singled in the Tiger run.

Orioles 10 Indians 9

It was hitters' day again, as the O's came from behind to beat the tough Indians. Big and timely hits for the O's Derek Stokes (4-4), Steven McGinchey (3-4) Robbie McDonald (3-4), Kelly McLean (3 RBI), Mark Garnett (3 RBI), Russ Allard (1 RBI). Defense by Bob Smith, Steve McGinchey, Stokes and McDonald.

Big bats for the Indians were Bobby Polizzi and Jason Morin. Kevin Fuller and Bobby Beals pitched well for the Indians.

Red Sox 7 Indians 1

The Red Sox broke open a tight game in the third inning with a two run double by Kevin DiGiovanni to beat the Indians, 7-1. In a fine pitching performance, Matthew LaCava struckout six batters and allowed only one hit in three innings. Also pitching well was Brian Oxman.

Getting hits for the Red Sox were Brian Oxman, Eric Creeth, Matthew LaCava and John Lynch with two apiece.

The Indians' offense was provided by Derek Gray with two hits and Bob Beals, Bob Polazzi and Tom Aprile with one hit each.

Orioles 1 A's 0

Jackie Sullivan's excellent pitching (9 k's, four hits) combined with the great baserunning of Derek Stokes was enough to give the A's their second loss of the season. The defense of Jackie Sullivan, Robbie McDonald and Derek Stokes kept the O's in the game.

For the A's, Judy O'Connell and Bobby Flemmings allowed only three hits in a good pitching effort. A's hits were by Steven Burns, Judy O'Connell and Bobby Flemmings.

Indians 4 Twins 3

The Indians edged past the Twins 4-3 Monday in Major League action. David DiCenso was magnificent for the Twins. David pitched six strong innings, knocked in two runs and made an excellent defensive play.

Jeff Valliere made a tremendous catch for the Twins in leftfield. Brian Mullins was the defensive star for the Indians, as he played a great game at secondbase. Tommy Aprile and Derek Gray hit doubles for the Indians, and Sean Poloian, Jay Morin and Bobby Polazzi had key hits for the Tribe.

A's 12 Royals 3

The A's 10 run first inning pretty much tells the story. The A's attack was led by Steve Kellile and Jay Shaded with two hits apiece.

Adam Pagliarulo got the win in four innings of two hit pitching. Paul DeFronzo gave up only a double to Mike Buonopane for the save in two innings of relief.

Ken McCue pitched a lot better than the score indicates. Ken also got a hit along with Paul Kenney and Paul Trites.

Minor League Mets 4 Cards 3

Excellent pitching turned in by Paul Haight Jr. and Mike Alonardo. Good hitting and base running by Greg Cardello, scoring the winning run, helped the Mets to the 4-3 close and very exciting victory.

Excellent pitching turned in by Greg Hill and Cunningham. A good defensive play was turned in by A. Amata and Andrew Pagliarulo.

Giants 7 Braves 4

Good batting by Herb Mason, Kristoff Mar, Joe Scifo, Derek Soderquist and Shawn Maloney. Randy Johnson struckout eight batters in three innings.

Astros 11 Phillies 10

The Phillies played an excellent game, with good pitching by Matt Carozza and Mike Patterson. Timely hitting was supplied by John Soule with a homerun while Scott Crowley, Marc Power, Scott Nolan and Matt Carozza all had singles. Mike Alpers had a long triple. Good defensive efforts were turned in by Frank Marchillo and Jim Largent.

Giants 7 Braves 4

Strong pitching by Rod MacDonald and Brendan Rogers led the Giants. The offense was highlighted by a homerun by Greg Maiella and timely hits by Greg Peters and Andy bower.

Fine defensive plays were made by Dave Ribeiro, Danny Bento, Dave Carideo and Buddy Pratt.

Farm League Expos 8 Mariners 3

The offense for the Expos was led by Mike Potito and Paul Bruno. Mike Potito had two homeruns, while Paul Bruno hit a grand slam. Potito also played well for the Expos in the field.

For the Mariners, Steve Moriera had a couple of hits, while Derek Santini played well at third, making a good stop and getting a force play.

Reds 17 Pirates 12

For the Pirates, homeruns by Ken Blowers, Dave Fleming and Kevin Camell. Fine defense by Dave Kenney and Chris Spliane. Rich DeLucia pitched well.

Sean Ballou hit a homerun for the Reds, while basehits were by Joe Zukas, Joe Accardi, John McCabe, Elliott Fama, Steve Chappie and Dan Fitzgerald.

Alan Dellascio, Tim Allard, and Eric Frotton pitched well. Chris Kelly played good defense.

Reds 9 Braves 6

Home runs for the Braves were belted by Randy Johnson, Herb Mason and Steve Walsh. Good hitting was by Joe Scifo, Mike Fournier and Bill Jansen. Good fielding by Herb Mason, Joe Scifo and Randy Johnson helped the cause.

For the Red, Alan Dellascio, Derek Fullerton and Joe Accardi turned in homeruns. Basehits were by Paul Ware, Joey Zukas, Steven Chappie and Dan Fitzgerald. Paul Ware and Alan Dellascio pitched very well.

Mariners 11 Blue Jays 10

The Mariners, led by Steve Marchillo, scored eight runs in the last inning to win. Phil Florence hustled around from firstbase to score the winning run. Derek Santini and Dave Maglio each had three hits. Steve Mortera made a few good plays in the field.

For the Blue Jays, Mike Lacorcica made some fantastic fielding plays. Bobby Fasulo, Mike Martinello and Brian Carroll each had two hits. Nicky Rangone had a homerun.

Blue Jays 6 Expos 5

The Blue Jays defeated the Expos in a hard fought, well played game by both teams. The game was tied 2-2 into the last inning when the Blue Jays, behind the bat of Bob Fasulos' key triple, scored four runs.

In the bottom half of the inning, the Expos came back with three runs of their own to just fall short. Other key hits for the Blue Jays included Joe Martinello, Mike Martinello, Richie Barden, Ken Hart and Greg Gargano.

Girls' softball Orange Crush 6 Blue Barrons 3

A strong pitching performance by Jessica Cleary and Caryl Currier led the Orange Crush to a 6-3 win over the Blue Barrons. The game was highlighted by great defensive plays by Karen Buckley, catcher; Keri Bowby, centerfield; and Lori Hurd, secondbase. Anna O'Donoghue of the Blue Barrons pitched a great game, going the entire distance.

Major League Red Sox 4 Yankees 2

Wendy Holmes singled in two runs in the sixth inning to lead the Red Sox to a hard fought 4-2 win over the Yankees. Strong pitching performances were turned in by Brian Oxman and John Lynch. Providing the offense was Kevin DiGiovanni with his second home run of the season and Eric Creeth, Richie Barletta and Dave Dussault with one hit each.

The tandem of Jim Medeiros and Anthony Bonnarigo pitched excellent for the Yankees, striking out nine batters and allowing four hits. Getting hits for the Yankees were Greco, Bolger and Dennis.

Major League Twins 9 White Sox 4

Great pitching by Matt McManus and Bobby Lesko along with good team defense were the keys to the Twins' victory. Offensive punch was supplied by Eric Heselon and Jimmy Ware.

The White Sox offense was led by Dave Toto, Scott McKenzie and Danny Godin. Greg Scarfo made a number of outstanding plays at secondbase for the White Sox.

USING CHILD CARE CREDITS

An increasing number of mothers of young children must work outside the home today -- and do -- so the child care credit has become an important element in family financial planning.

The President's tax proposals would have changed this credit to a deduction, but the House and maybe the Senate legislation keep this as a credit, more useful to most of those who qualify for it.

Up to certain limits, you can get credit for a percentage of what you pay for the care of a child under 15 or one who is physically or mentally unable to care for himself. You can even pay your parent to watch the child, as long as you do not claim the parent as a dependent.

In an interesting Tax Court case, a working mother was able to get credit for the cost of sending her child to summer camp. She was able to show that the cost of food, lodging and tuition for camp was less than the alternative babysitting arrangement would have been.

Do you qualify for child care credit? Ask:

Aprile Tourney this weekend

Memorial Day weekend in Wilmington means softball, as past graduating classes of Wilmington High School face off in the Tom Aprile Memorial Tournament.

Rivalry does exist, but for the most part, the games are reunions. Most of the players bring refreshments, and groups gather at private homes for pool parties.

This year, the tournament will not go into second and third rounds. For the most part, each team will play only one game. Most of the games will take place on Saturday, with one on Sunday.

The finale for the weekend will be a reunion dance on Sunday night at the Sons of Italy Hall, a popular event. Entry will be restricted to those 21 and over who have purchased an Alumni Association button.

Music for the dance will be provided by Nickelodeon.

The schedule is as follows:

Saturday, May 24:

and dump-ins from midfield.

The Wakefield offense was not to be denied, and struck for three quick goals at the start of the second half. One was skillfully kicked out of the goalie's hands on a two on none breakaway after two great saves.

Wilmington forwards Ginny Cosgrove, Chrissy Hersom, Katie Finn and Amy Josephson played well, but couldn't crack the Wakefield defense.

Boys Under 12 II

The boys beat a scrappy Winchester team, 1-0 on Saturday, May 10. Aggressive play led by John Burke and Matt Lewis kept the pressure on Winchester's goalie throughout the first half.

Late in the half, Beau Birmingham took a crossing pass from John Austin by way of a Mike King redirection to score the game's only tally.

Although Winchester kept pressing Wilmington throughout the second half the locals, led by Noel Baratta, Frankie Barietta, David Morgardo and goalie Tom Aprile, kept the ball out of Wilmington's net. This preserved the 1-0 Wilmington victory.

Girls Under 12

The girls team scored their first win of the season this week against a powerful Concord team. Both teams played hard, but the final read Wilmington 2, Concord 0.

The first goal of the game was scored by Dorrie Sheppardson. Kerry Spinale, one of Wilmington's most enthusiastic forwards, was next to light up the scoreboard.

Kim Laquidara received a minor injury, but managed to keep playing until the goal was scored by Kerry. Both of these girls gave their all during this game.

Outstanding performances were also turned in by Stacey Ouellette in goal, Jenna Powers playing fullback, Tobey Kenny at halfback and Jennifer Macdonald, who played fullback. The entire team played an exceptional game and proved that the Wilmington girls could compete with the best in the league.

Girls Under 14 I

The girls battled to their second 0-0 tie this year when they played North Reading last Saturday. It was a very tight defensive game with neither team getting many great opportunities.

Goalie Kristin Daley made a tremendous stop on a breakaway to thwart North Reading's best scoring opportunity. Jessica Celary, Erin McKenna and Krista Pagliarulo also played fine games.

Boys Under 16

The boys went down to defeat at Winchester in a very hard fought game, 3-1. Adam Pagliarulo scored on a beautiful shot and two other great opportunities went wide.

The Winchester team scored three times in the first half to secure the win. Although the boys have gone down to defeat in their past few games, great enthusiasm and spirit is still being displayed.

Boys Under 10 I

The team travelled to Woburn this past Saturday to play a strong Woburn team. The teams played evenly in the first half until Woburn was able to score on a rebound shot. Following that goal, Woburn scored two more goals to open up a 3-0 halftime lead.

In the second half, Wilmington staged a strong rally. After the locals scored on a penalty kick by Andrew Pagliarulo, the team played looser and more aggressive soccer.

Hard work in front of the Woburn net resulted in goals by Erik Shaffer and Matthew Calandrello. Woburn foiled the comeback by scoring two more goals to make the final score 5-3 in Woburn's favor.

Boys Under 12 I

The boys registered their third consecutive shutout with a 3-0 win over a skillful Winchester team.

The first goal came early, as Derrick Stokes calmly headed a Jimmy DeMarco corner kick into the net. The team worked hard, but was unable to capitalize on several other scoring opportunities in the first half.

David Dussault, Tom Zaya and Chris DeFrancesco kept the ball in the opponents end for most of the half. Derrick Stokes scored on a breakaway early in the second half. The score was set up by nifty passes from Brian Wallace and Gerard Forgett.

The final goal was drilled in by Joey Catanzano. Tom Killilea and David Oatis contributed strong performances, and Christian Armata played an exceptional game as a midfielder. John Martins played a flawless game in goal.

The next game was a battle of the two undefeated teams. The opponent, Lowell, scored quickly with a strong kick just under the crossbar.

Both teams played hard, scoreless soccer for the balance of the first half. The second half saw a determined Wilmington team that refused to accept defeat. After two Wilmington shots hit the crossbar, a goal was finally scored by Derrick Stokes.

Within a few minutes, John Lynch scored and Derrick Stokes deflected a Joey Catanzano bullet into the net for the third and final goal.

Tommy Killilea, Brent Carbone, David Oatis and Chris DeFrancesco deserve recognition for playing exceptional games. Jimmy DeMarco continued to control the middle of the field, and John Martins and Eric Flynn teamed up for superior goaltending.

The team won its' fifth consecutive game by defeating a very competitive Reading team.

After a scoreless first half, John Lynch quickly scored two goals. Brian Wallace, Gerard Forgett, Christian Armata and Jimmy DeMarco played well throughout the game.

Also, Christian Armata, David Oatis, Tom Killilea and Chris DeFrancesco had exceptional games. And John Martins and Eric Flynn registered a 2-0 shutout, their fourth shutout in five games.

Boys Under 10 II

The Wilmington boys under 10-11 team battled for third place in the division and emerged victorious this past Saturday against Concord.

Concord and Wilmington were tied for third with identical records of two wins and two losses. In a hard fought battle, the Wilmington team played its' best so far this season and won, 2-1.

The boys dominated the first half, but were down 1-0 after 15 minutes before forward Mike Caira got off a good pass to center forward Sean O'Malley, who got by the last fullback and scored to even it up by the end of the first half.

Some good pressure by halfbacks Ryan Hoffman and Andy Kane kept the play mostly on Concord's side of the field, while fullbacks David Maglio and Kevin O'Leary quickly cleared the ball out when it did make it to Wilmington side.

Andy Kane played a superb game at forward, heading straight for the goal, and as the Concord goalie was ready to pounce, an alert Sean Ballou beat him to the ball and drove it home for the winning goal.

These Cubs have it covered

This trio of Cub middle infielders (l-r) Mike Caira, Matt Callendrello and Erik Shaffer, team up to pinpoint exactly who should make the play in Wilmington Farm League action last week. The complete Wilmington Little League report appears on page 15 of the sports section.

Steven O'Neil earned a new spot as a number two goalie behind Rich Barden with a shutout performance in the second half despite tremendous pressure by Concord over the last 10 minutes.

Eric Jones enjoyed a very good game, playing well at three positions-at the stated time. However, those who cannot make the tryout should let their present coach or Kim Wheeler (658-8879) know prior to the tryout date.

The Wilmington Youth Soccer Association is considering entering teams in the Fall travel program in both the boys and girls under 16 (born in 1971 or 1972) divisions. These teams would be playing their games Sunday afternoons.

Tryouts for these teams will be held at the Shawsheen School. The GU-16 tryout will be at 2:30 p.m. Saturday, May 31 and the BU-16 tryouts will be at 6 p.m. Sunday, June 1. The cost will be $50 per player which will include uniform, insurance, and registration fee for two seasons and will be paid at a later date.

The teams selected will be for both the Fall and spring season. All candidates should attend the tryouts

Wilmington Rec summer events

Wilmington Rec Dept. Summer fun-1986

Below is a list and description of most of Wilmington Rec's summer programs. Registration procedures follow each program description. For more information, call 658-4270.

Rec Cross swim lessons: Laurie Buzzell and Sandy Craig. Four and five clinics $10; ages six and up, lessons, $25; Silver Lake and Shawheen Tech.

The Clinics will run Monday through Thursday, June 30-July 3 at 10 and 11 a.m. and noon. This program introduces the child to movement and safety in the water; Beginner Lessons are for ages 6-10; Advanced Beginner for ages 7-11 who have their beginner card or who can do the crawl for 25 yards; Intermediate for ages 8-12 who have their advanced beginner card or who can do the crawl stroke comfortably for 50 yards, dive and tread water for three minutes; Swimmer for ages 9-14 who have their intermediate card or who can swim 100 yards, dive and tread water for 10 minutes; Basic Rescue and water Safety Aide (Jr. Lifesaving) ages 11 to 15 who have all of the above requirements or who can swim 200 yards, dive and tread water for 10 minutes. Advanced Lifesaving for ages 15 1/2 and above who can swim 500 yards (Cost $30). Register by going to the Rec office Wednesday, June 4 between 9 a.m. and 2 p.m.; from 6 to 8 p.m. or Thursday, June 5 from 6 to 8 p.m.

Tiny Tots: Linda Dicey and Ron Colbert. Age four as of Aug. 31, 1986, through K; $30, three week session, Mon., June 23-Fri., July 11; Mon., July 14-Fri. Aug. 1.

This is a social/recreational program for those who have not entered first grade. The four year olds go in the morning from 9 to 11:30. The five and six year olds go in the afternoon from noon to 2:30. There are field trips, class photos, snacks, personal tshirts, arts and crafts, singing, games, special events and a big bunch of fun. Register in person from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. or from 6 to 8 p.m. Wed., May 21 or any weekday thereafter from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m.

Playground: Ages 6-12, completed first grade; free M-F 9 a.m. to 12:30 p.m., Wed., June 25-Wed., Aug. 21. Glen Road Recreation area.

Have you discovered the new Glen Road Recreation area? There are a lot of young people having fun down there thanks to the Rotary Club, D.P.W. and many others.

This traditional program is for youths who just completed any grade between one and six. Parents may register their child on the playground or children may take home the registration form. There are many exciting special events and tournaments as part of this program. This is a good program for volunteer helpers who have completed grades seven, eight or nine. Three leaders and volunteers provide supervision for the children.

Beach: Ed Woods. Wilmington residents and guests free, Sat., June 21-Mon., Sept. 1.

The public beach at Silver Lake provides the town's finest natural recreation resource. Qualified lifeguards supervise the facility from 11 a.m. to 7 p.m. Monday, through Saturday and noon to 7 p.m. Sundays.

Special needs day camp: Bob Scanlon. Special kids, $15 M-F 9 a.m. to 1:30 p.m., Mon., June 30-Fri., Aug. 20 at Camp 40 Acres.

This day camp is for Wilmington youths with special needs. The program provides a wholesome mixture of outdoor activities, field trips, swimming, games, crafts, singing and campfire fun. Register at the Rec office beginning Mon., June 3 8:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m.

Concerts: Ron Swasey. All ages, free, 7:30 to 9 p.m. on the town common.

Take the whole family down to the common for an old fashioned evening of live musical entertainment. Concert dates are Wed., June 25, Sun., June 29, Wed., July 9, 16, 23 and 30. Those supporting the program are the Wilmington Chamber of Commerce, Video Paradise, Tewksbury/Wilmington Elks, Dunkin Donuts, Koch Membrane Systems, Inc., Analog Devices, Bay Bank, Compugraphic Corporation, Charles River Laboratories, Inc., F & R Auto, Avco Corporation, Stelio's Restaurant, Massbank for Savings and the Council of Churches.

For those who are avid concert goers, the July 4 Committee has much musical entertainment planned for over the holiday period. On Sunday evening, June 29 from 7:30 to 9, the rock group Away will perform. Their message is anti-drugs. Spinelli Insurance and Avco Corporation are sponsoring this teen special. A separate concert schedule will soon be available to the public.

Karate: Dan Lynna. Grades three through 12; $39, four weeks, Mon., Wed., evenings.

This program helps develop coordination, character, integrity, self discipline and respect for others. The youth class is from 6:30 to 8 p.m. The adult class is from 8 to 9:30 p.m. Choices are from June, July or August. The classes will be held in North Reading.

Summer basketball: Paul Cardello. This league is for ages 10-17. Games will be played on the new outdoor court at WHS. Cost is $18. Call 658-8743.

Little Red Wagon: Ron Swasey. Everyone should enjoy this return performance of UNH's Theatre Resources for youth on Fri., July 18 from 11 a.m. to noon. This lively hour of dramatic entertainment features puppetry, story theatre, music and involvement theatre to delight children of all ages. This production will be held in the Glen Road pines and is free to the public. Council for the Arts sponsors this event.

Canoe rental: Ed Woods. Ages 12 and up; $3 per hour; $10 per day, Beach hours at Silver Lake.

Canoes are available for responsible people to rent at Silver Lake.

Canoe clinic: Wilderness Plus and Ron Swasey. Ages 10 and up; $2, Thurs., June 19, 6 to 8:30 p.m., Silver Lake. Learn nomenclature, strokes, safety and then practice newly acquired skills. This is an excellent sport to learn for the whole family.

Whitewater rafting: Ron Swasey. Ages 12 and up; $160.75, June 20-June 22.

This is a weekend motorcoach tour to the magnificent Sugarloaf Inn Resort in the scenic Carrabassett Valley of Maine. Basic tour inclusions are: round trip deluxe transportation, two nights lodging in beautiful mountainside condominiums plus rafting on the majestic Kennebec River with a riverside steak cookout scheduled. A $50 non-refundable deposit per person is due. Call for complete information any time. We also have information on closer to home rafting trips with local whitewater outfitters Wilderness Plus. If we get enough registrants for one of their river trips, we'll go as a group.

Travel information: Joan Goulet and Ron Swasey. The travel corner in the Rec office is growing every day. If you are planning a trip this summer for anywhere in New England, Canada or Florida, it may be worth your while to stop by and take a look. Discounts are available.

Red Sox: Ron Swasey. See the Sox in action at Fenway Park in Boston. We have tickets for the Saturday afternoon, June 14 game vs Milwaukee and the Wednesday evening, August 6 game vs Chicago. The best news is that the cost is only $5.00 for ticket and bus ride. Come in any time to register.

Fishing derby: Lions Club and Ron Swasey. All ages, $3.00 ages 18 and over; $1.17 and under; 9 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. Sat., June 14.

Catch the biggest bass, the biggest fish. Merchandise prizes for lucky fisherpeople. Special ribbons for all. Register at the Town Beach bath house.

Disney World: Joan Goulet and Ron Swasey. We are planning another group trip to Disney World for next April school vacation. Information is incomplete; call to get on information mailing list.

TMHS tracksters rebound from defeat

The Tewksbury High School boy's varsity track and field squad rebounded from their dismal performance vs Chelmsford with a good effort against Methuen, but came up short in their bid to remain in the top race for the Small School championship.

Today, May 21, the Redmen will put pride on the line as they go against their next door rivals, Wilmington, in a meet that could give the Wildcats an undefeated record in the Small School division and the title. A Wilmington loss to Tewksbury and a win by Methuen over Lawrence will give the Wildcats and Rangers a co-championship.

On Tuesday, May 27, the Redmen end their dual meet schedule as they travel to Large School opponent Billerica for a 3:30 p.m. meet. The meet is held at the track at the Marshall Middle School off Route 129.

Methuen 78 1/2-
Tewksbury 66 1/2

Since it takes 73 points to win a meet, Tewksbury missed out on a key win by six and one-half points.

The Redmen won nine out of the 17 events, but gave up 10 second place finishes to the Methuen Rangers, thus missing out on a chance to remain in the race for the Small School divisional title.

Tewksbury received several outstanding performances, but two of the best came from javelin thrower Chris McHardy, and high jumper Mike Hennessy. Neither was expected to win or place for that matter. McHardy, a senior, uncorked a personal best 156'8" toss to defeat his Methuen counterpart by 3 1/2". Tewksbury had expected Methuen to sweep the javelin, as well as take 1-2 in the high jump, but not for the efforts of Tewksbury's threesome. With top jumper Tim Boudreau out with a pulled muscle, sophomore Mike Hennessy, who had never done better than 5'2" in the event, came up with a winning performance of 5'6".

Teammate sophomore Dave McSweeney also did 5'6", but lost out to Hennessy because he had more misses at lesser heights. To add to the surprise, junior Keith Starting pitcher Doug Boudreau went the distance in nine and two-thirds innings, getting the loss while only giving up two earned runs. Winning pitcher Mark Eddy went nine and two-thirds innings, getting relief help from sophomore Nally, who struckout the only batter he faced.

Offensive standout for the Redmen was Charlie Gath, going three for five, including a homerun. Defensively, the Tewksbury outfield played flawlessly, robbing the Wildcat hitters with outstanding catches by leftfielder Scott DeVivo.

Wednesday's contest brought top ranked Chelmsford to Tewksbury, with the Redmen losing, 5-2. Starting and losing pitcher Greg Parke went six innings, giving up all five runs on only seven hits. Chelmsford played excellent defense over the last two innings, robbing Tewksbury numerous times, with the key catches going to rightfielder Signorelli on a tremendous snare off the bat of Jay Rideout with two men in scoring position, taking away a double or maybe a triple to save a big rally by the Redmen.

Offensively, Bob Briggs went two for three with an RBI for Tewksbury.

Friday's game brought Dracut to Tewksbury, with the results ending the same, as TMHS fell, 9-2. Dracut's starting and winning pitcher Steve Talbot went the distance, keeping the Redmen at bay with only six hits. Chris Mader got half the hits, going three for three with two doubles and had an outstanding game defensively.

Coach Bob Ware would like to note that the varsity - alumni game will be played at Hazel Field Saturday, May 31 at 9 a.m. Questions should be directed to him at 851-6391 after 6 p.m.

Redmen JV baseball 8-2

The Tewksbury junior varsity baseball team won two of three games recently and now stands at 8-2 on the year.

On Monday the Redmen belted Wilmington, 14-2. Southpaw Scott Niles picked up the pitching victory, allowing four hits, striking out three and walking two.

Chip O'Neill shutout the Wildcats over the final two and one-thirds innings, striking out three. John Miller led the Tewksbury hitting attack with four hits. Niles had three hits, including a long two run triple.

On Wednesday the Chelmsford Lions handed Tewksbury their second loss, 8-3. Jason Voto had a fine day for the Redmen with three hits, including a long solo homerun to rightfield.

Chip O'Neill tossed a sparkling no-hitter against Dracut on Friday. O'Neill struck out five and walked four in besting the Middies, 6-0. He also lowered his era to 2.02 for the season. Steve Gendron led the hitting attack with two hits and two RBIs. Secondbaseman Brian Freitag preserved the no-hitter by ranging into shallow centerfield and catching the final out of the game.

Ware All Scholastic

Senior co-captain Bob Ware of Tewksbury High School was recently selected to the Hockey Night in Boston All-Scholastic team. One hundred and thirty-five boys were selected from over 1500 to play in the tournament. In the three game tournament Bob had one goal and one assist. Ware was the only player chosen from the Merrimack Valley Conference Division II and one of five hockey players selected from the entire MVC.

Ware has also been selected to the Greater Lowell Hockey All Star Team. He was a defenseman on the Redmen hockey team that repeated as Merrimack Valley Small School champs. Bob was also named to the All Tournament Team in the Elks Christmas Tournament. He was selected to the MVC all star team for the past two years. Last year he scored a goal while playing forward for the winning team in the all star game.

This past season he was selected as a defenseman and chosen on the all conference second team. Ware played defense and killed penalties on the Redmen hockey team that allowed only 36 goals in 18 games. He scored eight goals and had 12 assists for the Redmen champs.

DeVivo earns gold medal

Fifteen-year-old Tewksbury sophomore Scott DeVivo became the first Massachusetts wrestler to win a gold medal at the Eastern Regional Wrestling Tournament in the Cadet Division (ages 15-16) held at Lafayette College in Easton, Pennsylvania May 16-18.

In the 130 pound weight class Scott took first place in Greco-Roman, pinning all five opponents. He also took second place in freestyle. After losing his first match he picked up the next six.

He advances to the Cadet National Tournament which is held at Flint, Michigan June 17-18. Scott is a two time state champion wrestler for Tewksbury Memorial High School.

Northeast tryouts May 29, 30

Tryouts will be held for Tewksbury Northeast Baseball at Hazel Field Thursday, May 29 at 2:30 p.m. and Friday, May 30 at 2:30 p.m. To be eligible, players must attend the Tewksbury public school system and not be 19 years of age as of August 1.

The Northeast Baseball team plays a 20 game schedule from surrounding Middlesex and Merrimack Valley towns and starts June 10 through August 1. Any questions may be directed to coach Dave Lindsey at 851-6907 or coach John Miller at 851-9801 after 6 p.m. weekdays.

Over the hill soccer

Tewksbury 4 Georgetown 0

Tewksbury International leads in Division 2 after dominating Georgetown in a recent 4-0 victory. Tony Deangelo blasted Inter's first goal after 15 minutes of play, with Gildas Bettencourt scoring the second goal. In the second half, Joe Guarino and John Mello scored, with the defense playing well, limiting Georgetown to few chances.

Billerica 4 Tewksbury 0

The Blues crashed to their first loss of the season in Division 4, as unbeaten leaders Billerica scored four unanswered goals.

Tewksbury 2 Billerica 1

The Masters notched their second win of the season, improving their record to 2-2 as they came from behind, beating Billerica, 2-1 after trailing 1-0 at halftime. Jim Meehan tied the score with a fine header off a corner kick, with Salvi Gulino scoring the winner.

Two friends swap stories during lunch break in a country store in Maine, taking advantage of heat from old-fashioned woodstove. History is an essential part of a hometown, and New England has more than its share.

New England

The nation's hometown of the mind

'Home is the place where, when you have to go there, they have to take you in.'
Robert Frost

By TIM CLARK

There are people, I am told, who are homesick for New England who have never been here. They carry around inside them a New England of the mind, the image of a steeple overlooking a green, of dignified houses with white clapboards and black shutters.

Partly it is because that image of New England has been a favorite subject of writers from Louisa May Alcott to Thornton Wilder, of artists from Currier and Ives to Andrew Wyeth. Partly it is because our holidays reinforce the New England myth — Fourth of July picnics and bandstand concerts, Pilgrims at Thanksgiving, hushed Christmases in the snow. New England is a hometown for America, a hometown for those of us, in this hurrying time, who have no hometown to call our own.

Not every place that people come from is a hometown. A place must possess certain attributes, physical and spiritual, before it can truly be called a hometown.

First, of course, it must be the place you were born. You can't choose your hometown, any more than you can choose your own parents. If you are unhappy with the place you were born, or if that place has caused to be unhappy that you were born there, that's too bad. You still have a responsibility to each other. Robert Frost (whose hometown happened to be San Francisco) understood this harsh truth: "Home is the place

Smart marketing earns summer jobs for teenagers

Smart marketers know the key to success in a crowded marketplace is differentiation. Smart teenagers can profit from this strategy in their search for summer jobs, advises a job hunting expert.

John D. Erdlen, CEO of Costello, Erdlen & Company, a national human resources consulting firm specializing in employee recruitment, recommends a "direct marketing" approach. Designed to capture the attention of prospective employers and demonstrate the ingenuity and initiative of young applicants, the direct marketing approach gives summer job-hunters an early taste for entrepreneurship and helps develop business skills.

To stand out from the competition, Erdlen suggests that teenagers consider the following tools to market themselves:

A resume distributed door-to-door in targeted neighborhoods. The resume can briefly outline experience (babysitting, yard work, pet care, car washing, etc.) and indicate dates of availability and willingness to "train" in other areas. If typing or word processing is a skill, use it to produce the resume and emphasize that strength, adds Erdlen, noting that many businesses are seasonally understaffed due to summer vacations. If a graphics package is available, a photo on the resume establishes familiarity, while demonstrating technical capability.

Business cards are a professional touch that require a minimal investment, yield big dividends, and impress prospective employers. Be sure to ask the printer to see logos or trademarks that can be printed (at no extra charge) to indicate a particular area of expertise you want to emphasize (a lawnmower for yardwork, a baby for child care).

Personal introductions to neighborhood mothers to propose formation of a weekly "play group" with structured activities for pre-schoolers. A regularly scheduled group can alleviate summer boredom for youngsters and offer mom a few hours of free time.

Relying on his experience parenting four teenagers as well as extensive job hunting knowledge, Erdlen also urges students to consider launching summer "careers" geared specifically to the seasonal market:

Services on Cape Cod: babysitting, lifeguarding, waitressing and other restaurant work.

An academic tutoring service for elementary school children.

Tennis and swimming lessons. Pet care, plant care and "housesitting" for vacationing families.

Pool maintenance service.

Lawn care.

Housepainting.

"Spring cleaning" for garages, as well as homes.

Yard sale assistance (read local ads and offer help with pricing, sales, or babysitting for this popular seasonal event).

The list is as extensive as your creativity and skills, reminds Erdlen. He urges teenagers to take stock of special talents and translate them into profitable summer ventures. The young entrepreneurs will be positioned favorably after graduation when prospective employers ask the inevitable question about work experience, points out Erdlen, who helped develop The Job Hunting Guide for Costello, Erdlen & Company and co-authored Where Are The Jobs and Job-Hunting For The College Graduate.

Erdlen reminds teenagers not to overlook the traditional summer job sources for high school and college students: school guidance and placement offices, local newspaper ads, chambers of commerce, summer camps, city and town recreation departments responsible for staffing park and playground programs, and postings in public libraries, churches and grocery stores.

Costello, Erdlen & Company, based in Westwood, provides contract services/recruiting, outplacement counseling, training and development, compensation consulting and computerized employment systems to a diversified client base including high technology, financial services, legal, retail, medical, chemical and defense contractors.

Auction

donated seven new vehicles to the Channel 2 Auction, marking it as a record-breaking event. And now they have topped that record! Congratulations to all for their participation."

The eleven vehicles, with a total value of $131,000, will be presented in a special production, "The New Car Auction," as part of the annual major fundraiser for Boston's nationally-acclaimed PBS station, WGBH. The 1986 Auction will be televised May 30 through June 7, with "The New Car Auction" presented nightly at 7:30, beginning Monday, June 2. Viewers will be able to bid on the cars throughout the week before the vehicles are put up for final bid and sale on Saturday, June 7, as the Auction concludes.

"This year's wide range of new cars and models and values should stimulate great interest and bidding among our viewers," Edye Baker said. "They have found, as did our participating dealer association, that it is a great way to go shopping for a new car, from the convenience of your own home and television set. We are grateful to the donors of these new vehicles for their support of the Auction, and for taking advantage of the promotional exposure they receive before our two million viewers."

All new cars will be on display on the grounds of Channel 2, WGBH, Western Avenue, beginning May 30 and throughout Auction Week. Viewers and bidders who would like additional information about the individual cars may contact the Auction Office (617-492-2777) or visit local participating dealers.

During Auction Week (May 30-June 7), a special "hot line" telephone number will be announced for bidding information on Auction items, including the eleven new vehicles.

Silver Lake Spotlighters perform at festival

The Silver Lake Spotlighters, Inc. will perform in the 33rd Annual New England Theatre Conference (NETC) Community Theatre Drama Festival, to be held in the Spingold Theatre at Brandeis University, Waltham, May 22-25. Seventeen community theatre groups from the New England states will perform a variety of productions, covering a full range of dramatic and musical offerings, in compliance with stringent competition rules.

The Silver Lake Spotlighters of Woburn will present Apples and Oranges, a new musical with book, music, and lyrics by Lauren Cochran (Medford) and musical arrangements/additional songs by Mario Cruz (Somerville). This production is directed by Celia Bartolotti (Tewksbury) and is scheduled to be performed on Saturday, May 24, at 12 noon.

Cast members include: Ron Geraneo, Marianne DiMare and Mario Cruz of Somerville; Douglas Desilets of Swampscott; Maria DiMartino of Allston; Suzanne Fall of Tewksbury; Tom Freeman of Reading; Candace Hopkins of Jamaica Plain; Kelley O'Leary of Arlington; Marguerite Rigoglioso of Cambridge; Mike Dias of Brookline; Paul Farwell of Stoneham; Nancy Tutunjan of Watertown; Jeff Higgs of Natick; Mary Sheehan of Everett; and Adrienne Bonaccorsi of Malden. The production staff is headed by stagemanager Mary Porkka of Dorchester.

The Festival will be played in five sessions over the four-day period. Following each session, a professional adjudicator will give a public critique of all productions. The four top-ranked productions will be performed again in a "finals" session on Sunday evening, and a special guest judge will select the winner of the "Best Production" award from among the finalists. Additional awards will be presented for outstanding achievements in acting, directing, and technical aspects of production.

All evening sessions, Thursday through Sunday, begin at 7:30 p.m. Afternoon sessions, Saturday and Sunday, begin at 12 noon. The Festival is open to the public, with a small admission charge. For further information, contact Kelley O'Leary, 643-7615, evenings.

DON'T BE FOOLED!!

There are many cheap imitations of better quality cribs, furniture, mattresses, car seats, bumper sets, and strollers. These copies may even look just like the better products, and there are many places you can find them. But at The Baby's Room, we select only products that are built to last. We believe it is a much better decision for you to buy infant products just once, although it may cost more initially. We hear stories daily from new parents who have broken cribs, poorly made furniture, strollers with broken wheels, cloth bumpers ruined in the wash, popped springs on mattresses and more. The staff of The Baby's Room is trained to explain differences in quality, safety and practicality when you are choosing infant products. WE WILL ALSO encourage you to shop around and compare (rather than pushing to close the sale).

We also recommend you be cautious of stores with so-called super sales, "deals," and "games of chance." Our prices are consistently excellent, with full service support.

Hometown

where, when you have to go there, they have to take you in."

New England is where America was born. Other places were settled first, but by people who came to make a name or a profit, not a home. The Puritans who settled Massachusetts came to make a heaven on earth, and they were the first to call themselves Americans.

They also invented most of the ideas that make America what it is. Free public education, free libraries, participatory democracy in town meetings, the town itself — all these New England gave America. It gave us other things less appealing, like witch-hunts, censorship, and gypsy moths, but those, too, are part of the legacy of a hometown.

You Have to Leave

If there is nothing to rebel against, one might never leave one's hometown, and one never truly appreciates home until one has left it. It is no accident that the image of the New England town we cherish is the way it looked in the early 19th century, when hundreds of thousands left New England for literally greener pastures in the West.

A hometown needs distinct boundaries. The place I was born, a sprawling suburb that grew like Topsy, has none. New England, though, is the most sharply defined region in this country. It is six states, no more nor less, bordered by Canada on the north, New York on the west, and salt water everywhere else. There is no fuzziness around the edges here. Each of the states is a patchwork quilt of independent towns — even the oddly shaped unincorporated areas of Vermont, relics of surveyors' errors, are called "gores," a tailor's terminology.

A hometown ought to have a definite center. Most towns in New England have such a center, "an irregular heart of open grass," as John Updike has described it — the town green. Large or small, lush or unkempt, it is common ground, proof that the town is more than a random collection of buildings and individuals.

History is an essential part of a hometown. There is something soulless about these new towns, built from scratch and all at once. They remind me of a time capsule buried recently in a Massachusetts town that was discovered, after the burial, to have contained a book of ethnic jokes. Representatives of the ethnic group in question insisted that the capsule be dug up, and the offending material removed. And that's what was done.

The people who opened that time capsule, some joked, could see what life was like in their town a week earlier. So can any resident of a community that sprang fully built from the brain of a real-estate developer. But in almost every town in New England, one can see the homely evidence of hundreds of years of human habitation, in its stone walls, cellar holes, its meandering roads, and its old houses proud or plain.

History gives a place heroes, and a hometown needs them, too. Not just soldiers and politicians — New England has a surplus of those — but also local characters, cranks, saints, and eccentrics.

Middlesex Council on Children offers child care book

WAKEFIELD — Last December, the Child Care Committee of the Eastern Middlesex Council for Children — the volunteer, "citizen arm" of the Office for Children — held a forum to solicit recommendations for the improvement of Office for Children child care regulations and other issues as they pertain to the child care community.

The public was invited and forum participants came from the Eastern Middlesex area as well as surrounding towns. Full, half, and extended-day child care programs and other child care-related groups were represented at the forum. All participants were encouraged to gravitate toward subjects which most interested them, and group discussion centered around Office for Children child care regulations and licensing practices.

As a result of this important gathering, a detailed report was developed and submitted to Governor Dukakis; Mary Kay Leonard, the Director of Office for Children; Philip Johnston, Secretary of the Executive Office of Human Services; Heidi Ulrich, Coordinator of the Governor's Day Care Partnership Initiative and others in government who are in the position to implement positive change within the child care community. And, in May, Mary Kay Leonard issued an official response to the precedent-setting report. This response is included with the Child Care Committee's report, making it a most effective and complete informational packet.

The Child Care Committee believes this packet will be a valuable tool to those in government, and to you, as early childhood professionals and citizens concerned about children and child care.

Copies may be obtained, free of charge, by contacting the Eastern Middlesex Council for Children office, 7 Lincoln Street, Room 215, Wakefield — 245-5267.

Gardening guide available

Garden fresh beans, summer squash, eggplant, radishes, and more can be yours when the garden is ripe! And, a Guide to Vegetable Gardening from the Massachusetts Department of Food and Agriculture can help you develop your gardening skills.

May 30th is generally considered the safe planting time in Massachusetts, and nothing is more satisfying than tasting your own home-grown vegetables. A guide compiled by the Bureau of Land Use advises on everything from planting to composting. For a copy, write to the Massachusetts Department of Food and Agriculture, 100 Cambridge Street, Boston, Ma. 02202.

Helpful hints on selecting a site, basic hand tools needed, and even a planting chart that tells you when to plant, and how many days each crop stays harvestable is contained in the guide.

Each gardener has different factors to deal with and therefore must plan accordingly. The guide advises on how to arrange your garden to fit the amount of time available to spend in the garden, and the food needs of your family.

One of the nicest things about your own vegetable garden is the opportunity you will have to pick a variety of vegetables at the moment they reach their peak of freshness.

Gardening keeps growing in popularity, even outranking sports in the time spent outdoors.

The model New England community has a town green, what John Updike calls "an irregular heart of open grass"

Finally, a hometown mustn't change too much. If we must leave it in order to understand its significance and value, then we want to be able to recognize it when we return. In this sense, New England has been fortunate in its misfortunes.

New Wine in Old Bottles

The economic decline that began with the demise of the great textile mills lasted long enough to prevent any wholesale replacement of our historic buildings. By the time the New England region had rebuilt its economy via high technology, the prophets of historic preservation had persuaded architects and builders that we could have new wine in old bottles.

With only a few exceptions, the rich architectural heritage of the 19th century was saved in big cities and small towns alike.

Thanks to the efforts of stubborn visionaries, the real New England now looks more like the mythic New England than it ever did before.

My children were born in a small town in New Hampshire. They can walk from their elementary school up the hill past the white-steeped church, the tiny town common, and the recently refurbished town hall to the library. I can watch them from my office window.

When we go to the general store, or to the town beach, or to the dump with our garbage on a Saturday morning, I try to impress upon them that this is their hometown. They nod in cheerful agreement, but I can tell they are humoring me. They take all this for granted.

Someday, after they have left this place, perhaps when they have to come here, and we have to take them in, they will understand.

Congestive Heart Failure?

Shortness of breath and fatigue are often symptoms of Congestive Heart Failure. A clinical trial is currently being organized to determine whether digoxin and diuretics are of value in the treatment of this condition.

This trial is being offered by a major drug company at no cost to a selected patient group interested in proving the effectiveness of a current and newer approach in the treatment of congestive heart failure.

variety of activities. One of the programs that makes this camp so unique is its Barnyard Program, which features the care, feeding and management of barnyard animals. Other camp programs include horsemanship, swimming, arts, crafts, ceramics, recreational sports and hiking. The camp store sells t-shirts, postcards, cold drinks etc., and campers can help run the store if they wish. Special event programs such as gardening, food preservation and a mini-course for babysitters are also offered.

Campers will enjoy camp fires, cook-outs and sleeping in cabins on a hillside. The Camp Director and Staff are capable, imaginative and eager to encourage the skills and potential of each camper.

Membership in 4-H is not a requirement to attend, but boys and girls must be between the ages of 8 and 14. The 4-H Camp Middlesex Camp brochures and registration forms are available from the Middlesex County Cooperative Extension 4-H Office, 105 Everett Street, Concord, Ma. 01742. Telephones: 369-4845 or 862-2380.

Stop by Sunday, June 15th from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. and find out more about this beautiful camping opportunity. It's a great place for campers to spend a week or two during the summer.

"Campership" information (some financial aid) is also available upon request.

WAKEFIELD — Sunday and Monday, May 25 and 26, from 9:30 a.m. to 4 p.m., the fourth in a series of unique craft shows, presented by Herbert Spear, of Coastal Artisans, Lincolnville Beach Maine, will take place at the "Lakeside Room" of The Lord Wakefield Motor Inn, North Avenue, Wakefield just 100 yards of Exit 35, Rt. 128 (95).

HABITAT

A field trip to see the "Flora of the Boston Harbor Islands" will be offered on Saturday, May 24, 9:45 a.m. to 5 p.m. Join Dale Levering, author of An Illustrated Flora of the Boston Harbor Islands, to study this rare ecological environment. This area is the only section where the Eastern Deciduous Forest ecosystem extends to the ocean. The tour will cover Georges, Lovells, and Gallups Islands. The fee of $24 includes the ferry ticket.

Other programs this spring include "The World of Flower Pollination" starting May 28, "Sky Gardening: A Symposium on Butterflies, Birds and the Horticultural Habitat" on May 31, and "Grazing Fields Farm Tour" on June 1. Please call Habitat at 489-5050 for more information on these and other programs at Habitat this spring.

MRS. DIXON Psychic Reader and Advisor

One of our most famous psychics. You may have seen or heard of her on your local t.v., radio or newspapers. Let her open the door to unknown passages in your life.

She can read your life like an open book. She will tell you your past, present and future without you saying a word. She can and will give you help on all matters of life in love.

- In love - find out if the one you love is true or false
- Business - when to make or not to make that important decision
- Marriage - find out where your marriage is failing
- Health - if the doctor can't find what is wrong, she will and most of all, what to do to help yourself

She will bring success and happiness where others have failed. Don't let time or distance stand in your way.

Homes, "This career night seminar is designed to answer questions on how to get a real estate career started and income potential. Gallery of Homes Regional Education Director, Marie Caristi, will discuss certification and licensing requirements and ongoing training and sales support programs available to Gallery sales counselors. A question-answer period will follow the discussion."

The Gallery of Homes Career Night will be held at the Thomson Country Club, 20 Elm Street, (Rte. 62), North Reading on Wednesday, May 21 at 7:30 p.m. Refreshments will be served. There is no cost or obligation, but reservations are recommended as seating is limited.

Reservations may be made by calling Fitzgerald and Associates Gallery of Homes at 664-4709.

DIVORCED, SEPARATED AND WIDOWED

Beginning Experience Weekends for separated, divorced and widowed men and women are an opportunity to deal with the natural process of grief and loneliness resulting from the loss of one's spouse and to make a new beginning in life with renewed courage and joy. Weekends are scheduled for June 20-22 and September 5-7. For more information call Sr. Jean at 986-8696 or Diane 454-1611.

Over 100 exhibitors featuring fine art, etched glass, hand-painted folk art, gold and silver jewelry, and crafts demonstrations. Colonial militia encampment, "Wheelmen" with rare antique bicycles from 1800's, self-guided tours at Salem Maritime Museum. Whale watches, magic show, child-sized puppets, and more! Free admission. Ample parking available.

FUEL ASSISTANCE

Community Action Programs Inter-City, Inc. (CAPIC) is urging all their fuel assistance recipients to apply to the Weatherization Assistance Program as soon as possible due to the anticipated reduction in Federal fuel assistance funds. Having your home professionally weatherized can reduce your heating bills at a minimum of 30 percent thereby reducing the cost that you must pay after you have exhausted your fuel allotment.

Free weatherization services are available to income eligible home owners and tenants in the communities of Revere, Chelsea, Winthrop, Melrose and Wakefield. Services include weatherstripping, insulating walls, attics, cellars, and storm windows. All work is done by professional contractors and we can spend up to a maximum of $3,000.00 in a unit.

Further information regarding this program and gross income guidelines may be obtained by calling the Weatherization Assistance Program at 286-0486 or 286-0487. The office is located at 156 Beach St., Revere and is open Monday - Friday between the hours of 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

HARBOR ISLAND

MetroParks, a service provided by the Metropolitan District Commission invites the public to celebrate the approaching summer season on Georges Island.

Life At Fort Warren During the Civil War - Saturday and Sunday, May 24 and 25 at 12:15 and 2:15 p.m.

Fortress, Prisoner-of-War and training camps, Fort Warren is one of the most significant Civil War sites in the North. Examine the life of a common soldier from the 1860's.

A History of Woman at the Fort - Saturday and Sunday, May 31-June 1, June 14-15 at 12:15 and 2:15 p.m.

Throughout the history of Fort Warren, few women have been recognized at the Fort. Discover the roles women portrayed during the Civil War from military personnel, wives of stonecutters, laundry women to USO performers.

In addition to the MetroParks interpretive programs, guided tours of Georges Island and Fort Warren are given daily, free of charge, each weekend by the MetroParks Rangers. For more information on MetroPark activities contact the MDC Public Information Office at 727-5215.

AN EVENING WITH GENE BURNS

Popular Boston area talkmaster Gene Burns will be entertaining patrons at a dinner to be held on Friday, May 30 at Carrols Restaurant in Medford. The dinner will feature a brief review of what the WRKO radio personality describes as "The Issues Of The Day," followed by an open question and answer period for guests to engage Mr. Burns in discussion. Just back from a trip to Jerusalem, Gene says, "With what has gone on in the Middle East and Europe in the last month, we will have a lot to talk about, and this time, I can be confronted face to face on my views." The evening, which will cost $35.00 per person, will benefit the work of The National Kidney Foundation, and will include a full dinner, beginning at 8 p.m. The public will have a chance to meet Mr. Burns briefly before and after the program. For tickets and information, contact The Kidney Foundation at 566-0019.

VEGETARIAN COOKING CLASS

Beginning Tuesday, June 3, New England Memorial Hospital in Stoneham will conduct a course for the public entitled International Vegetarian Cooking. The program meets four Tuesday evenings, June 3 - 24, from 7 to 9 p.m.

Julie Marcell, a registered dietitian will teach the course. Each evening participants will actually prepare and sample one of four different food types - Mexican, Italian, Chinese, and American. There will be demonstrations, lectures, films and lots of hands-on experience. Participants will also receive dozens of low-fat, low cholesterol recipes they can try at home.

A $35 fee is charged for the program. Interested persons should call the hospital's Health Education department at 665-1740, ext. 426.

CLASS ACT PLAYERS

"Tell Me That You Love Me, Junie Moon" will be presented on Sunday, May 18 at 7 p.m. by the Class Act Players, Greater Boston Academy, 20 Woodland Rd., Stoneham (on the grounds of New England Memorial Hospital.) Three misfits desperately band together as they face the struggle of learning to live and to love. Based on the novel by Marjorie Kellogg. Tickets will be $3; for advance ticket purchases, call 665-9053. Come and enjoy the wit and wisdom of this funny and poignant drama.

Woodchips

By ANTHONY MANCONI

You can be sure that behind every successful man there was a "woman." She may have been his mother, wife or sweetheart who encouraged him when he was about to "give up," guided him when he felt "lost," and helped support him when he was falling. She was probably waiting in the "wings" as people stood up to give him a tremendous ovation. Abraham Lincoln summed it up well when he said: "All that I am and all that I hope to be I owe to my saintly mother."

Hollywood has conditioned many of us to look for "beauty" in face and figure in a person. The Woodchipper would, like Lincoln, lose out on all counts. I sincerely hope, however, that like Abe, I am recognized for my "malice towards none, charity for all and the ability to see the 'right' thing and the courage to do it."

A dentist was sick last week but another dentist "filled" in for him.

Folks, success is getting "up" just one more time than you "fall" down. As you ramble down the road of life, whatever be your goal, keep your eye upon the donut and not upon the hole. I'm glad it's over. I volunteered to teach a C.C.D. class of boys. (C.C.D. is a fancy name for old fashion "Sunday School.") I asked the class one day "can anyone tell me anything about Adam and Eve?" Tommy Cook jumped up and said, "Adam was born in the late afternoon, a little before Eve. Then Eve was made from a rib of Adam, that was OK, it was a 'spare-rib' anyway. They were happy living in Paradise because they were Abel to raise Cain."

At this point I excused myself while I got a glass of water to down two aspirins. Trying to be funny, I asked, "does anyone know where Moses was when the lights went out?" The whole class shouted "in the dark, Woodchipper, where you've been trying to teach this class."

It's alright to "drink like a fish" providing that you drink what a fish drinks.

Rowan Fitzgerald had the chicken pox last month and the doctor ordered John Shea to stay away because of his "fowl" language. So Uncle John sent Rowan a pair of pigeons as a present to cheer him up. He knows that Rowan is "coo-coo" about them. Later he paid him a visit and said "Rowan you look marvelous, you'll be out of bed and on your feet in no time at all." "What did you say?" Rowan asked. "A couple of more times of 'you'll be alright in no time at all,' and Uncle Hohn shouted, 'what's the matter with you, have you gone deaf?' "No," exclaimed Rowan, "but I've been in bed for over a week without a drop to drink and your breath is like a breeze from heaven!"

I was in the Cambridgeport Bank in Winchester last week where Mrs. Gail DaSilva is assistant manager, when a man shouted "did anyone drop a roll of bills with a rubber band around it?" Three people told him that they did. "Good," replied the wise-guy, "I found your rubber band!"

Frank Mazzoni of Wilmington said "I read Woodchips every week and I recommend that a statue of you be placed in our town park — it will tend to keep the pigeons 'off' the other statues!" Frank, I'll bet Joe Foley of Tewksbury told you to say that.

My wife, Kathy and I attended a party at the Woburn Elks last week but we had to leave early. She was so tired she could hardly keep her mouth open. She was telling everybody at the party that the secret of a happy marriage is "money, money, money!" I attended a wedding last Sunday that reminded me of my own. The bride looked "stunningly beautiful" and the groom looked "stunned."

Did you know that Windsor, Ontario is geographically further south than Boston? I know that my friend and fan of Woodchips, Capt. Larz Neilson, publisher of the "Town Crier," and Merchant Marine veteran could tell me plenty about the oceans, harbors and ship lanes of the world. I was told that the Atlantic Ocean entrance to the Panama Canal is further west than the Pacific Ocean.

An undertaker married a circus snake charmer and their towels are marked "Hiss and Hearses!"

It's time for spring planting so you can understand how desperate this farmer is who placed an ad in the farm journal. — "Wanted by farmer 42, woman about 30 who drives a tractor. Please enclose picture of the tractor."

The person who can't lead and won't follow makes a dandy "roadblock."

During intermission at a Woburn Country Club dance, a wise guy friend of mine stuffed a napkin down the end of a trombone. When the band returned to resume playing, the trombone player made one supreme effort to play and he blew his toupee off the top of his head and it flew clear across the dance floor. That gentlemen really believed in the "hair-after!"

Who said judges don't have a sense of humor? I was introduced to a wonderful gentleman who is certainly gifted with it. He is retired Judge John McCleod of the Chelsea District Court. He just roared when I told him about the judge who looking down at the defendant said "you look familiar, have you ever been up before me?" The confused man misunderstanding the question replied: "I don't know your honor, what time do you get up?"

The following "Chip" is not meant to be funny, there's a lesson here for all of us, it's a Latin phrase, "Caveat Emptor" (Let the buyer beware). It is clearly explained in this chip: a judge asked "How could you swindle all these people who trusted you?" "Your Honor," answered the prisoner, "People who don't trust you can't be swindled!"

My wife, Kathy said to me "What do you want me to say when your boss comes to dinner tonight — dinner is ready or dinner is served?" "Kathy," I replied, "If it's like the dinner you cooked last night just say, 'dinner is burnt.'"

Nick and Diane Scarfo of Wilmington are fans of Woodchips. They own Carvel Ice Cream in Lowell. Everytime someone asks for "Tutti Frutti" they think of me. Their lovely daughter, Kim, will be opening up a hair dressing salon soon. My wife, Kathy, went to a beauty parlor last week and for three days she looked beautiful — then the "mud" fell off. Class reunions are when former classmates get together to see who is falling "apart."

Bourque tunes up at North Reading studio

Lance Bourque, 13, recently was accepted into the Boston School of Ballet's summer program. The son of Dolores Bourque of North Reading and Lorne Bourque of Reading, Lance is a student in the advanced classes at Jacqueline School of Dance, where he studies ballet and tap with Jacqueline Casey, owner and director of the school; jazz with Susan Casey, the school's co-director; and ballet techniques with Susan Butler, senior staff member.

An eighth grader at North Reading Junior High School, where his favorite subjects are science and algebra, Lance is a member of the marching band, playing the tenor saxophone. He has played baseball, hockey and basketball on town teams.

Lance comes from a dancing family. His mother Dolores, also takes ballet, tap and jazz lessons at Jacqueline School of Dance, as does his 10-year-old sister, Gwen.

Lance already has a considerable amount of stage experience. His debut was in "The Music Man," when he was eight years old. In addition he performed in "Babes in Arms" and "The Sound of Music" with the North Reading High School Masquers Club, and "A Chorus Line," "Annie Get Your Gun" and "The Music Man" with the North Reading Theatre Workshop.

His five years of stage experience have made Lance a "trouper." He has developed the "show must go on" attitude necessary for a good performer. When asked how he handles an off-night, when he doesn't feel well, perhaps, he replied, "You nave to do it. That's what the people came to see. You have to forget about your reasons for not wanting to." He stressed that he does enjoy performing.

Lance was enthusiastic when he explained why he likes dancing. "It's fun," he said, "You can express all your feelings," and, of course, "It's good exercise." He is eager to begin the summer program and thinks the opportunity is "great! I really want to go." He said he welcomes the chance "to study with professionals."

"The Boston School of Ballet offers a comprehensive, structured program under the supervision of Director Bruce Wells," according to Patricia Lane, operations manager of the school. "In addition to daily ballet classes, we offer an extensive enrichment program, designed to emphasize development of the dancer as a totally rounded artist. This program consists of two components: classes in special topics, such as injury prevention, dance history, and nutrition for dancers; and supervised field trips to Boston-area cultural institutions, such as the Museum of Fine Arts, the Boston Pops Esplanade concerts, and Jacob's Pillow dance theatre in the Berkshires."

At the moment Lance is undecided about pursuing a professional dance career. He said he might like "dancing in a company for a while, but not forever." He expressed more interest in teaching.

What if the worst happened? The dancer's nightmare: What if, for some reason, you couldn't dance anymore? "That's an awful question!" Lance exclaimed. "I'd miss so much — the self-expression, the exercise, the theatrical aspects."

What advice would he offer other boys who want to study dance? Lance shook his head, obviously remembering his own experiences, then raised his head and said with conviction, "If you want to do it, just do it!"

Top Gun

Short Takes

Let's be perfectly honest. There are some mighty pretty sights in Top Gun, a slick movie about naval fighter pilots. There are some truly exciting flight scenes, Tom Cruise's newly muscular physique and Kelly McGillis's shapely legs. But that's about it. If you want substance, don't look here.

To begin with, the premise barely borders on reality. Cruise portrays a gifted flier who has been accepted into Top Gun, an elite, eight-week training program for the best pilots in the country. These guys are supposed to be tough, smart and skilled in the art of dog fighting. So far so good.

The stupidity starts to set in when a high heeled, blonde with a tight skirt and seamed stockings is introduced as a civilian instructor. Now, those of us who weren't born yesterday can see beyond the glare of red lipstick and limpid eyes to realize that what we have here is really none other than The Love Interest. At this point the plot is reduced to a seven letter synopsis — f.o.r.m.u.l.a.

McGillis, as the pouty instructor, has never been more than a thinly disguised model pretending to be an actress, and does nothing here to change her approach. However, aside from her ridiculous appearance, the rest of the cast gives fine performances. Cruise is still a charismatic actor who garners our attention with his swaggering step, flippant retorts and carefree smile. While he may not win an academy award in the near future, he is the perfect modern day matinee idol.

Anthony Edwards as his sidekick is a surprise as a sweet, gentle guy with a sense of humor. Edwards, last seen in Gotcha is developing into a pleasant, understated performer whose quiet style will linger with you.

Competing with the actors for your attention are action sequences that are on the cutting edge of technology. There is never one minute that director Tony Scott doesn't make you feel as though you are in one of those F-14's and traveling 30,000 feet above sea level. With a budget that allowed for such special effects and the fine performances provided by most of the cast, all it would have taken to fly this heavyweight up from mediocrity would have been an intelligent writer concerned less with gloss and more with life in the real world.

Short Takes

Sweet Liberty will never be classified as high art, but it is a cute, little story about summer movie madness with a lot of laughs that never panders to the intelligence of the audience. Alan Alda has come through with a slightly irreverent, sarcastic and thoroughly entertaining look at a movie company that is trying to rewrite history. Rated PG. ...

Fire with Fore chronicles a boy meets girl love story. He's an inmate in a reform school, she's kept under close watch at a Catholic school. They shouldn't have bothered, and either should you. Rated PG-13. ...

Jo Jo Dancer, Your Life Is Calling, is a departure for comedian Richard Pryor, and has a distinct autobiographical flavor. While a bit slow in spots, Pryor, who also co-wrote and directed, weaves an intriguing tale dotted with his earthy humor, and you can't help but be drawn to it. Rated PG. ...

Dangerously Close is a twisted, nasty film about a group of high school students who form an unpleasant fascist club as an after school activity. When not patrolling the halls they are murdering unwanted exchange students. Lost in its own pretensions, this isn't even a decent Grade B-thriller. Rated R. ...

Blue City is a rambling, easy-to-figure out thriller starring Judd Nelson and Ally Sheedy. They aren't bad, but the script is. Don't even bother seeing this one on cable, it's too dull. Rated R. ...

Legend is a murky, overblown fantasy that had a lot of potential — and director Ridley Scott blew it. Tom Cruise is woefully miscast as a hermit in this fairy tale, and the cinematography is so skittish as to appear palsied. However, this curiosity is worth seeing if only for the wonderful unicorns and Tim Curry as the menacing Lord of Darkness. Rated PG. ...

Violets are Blue and no doubt so are Sissy Spacek and Kevin Kline for appearing in this sentimental, pointless love story. Laden with meaningful glances and colorful sunsets, this tale of reunited sweethearts could put even moist-eyed romantics into a coma. If you insist on going, watch for Bonny Bedelia, the only sincere note in the flick. Rated PG-13. ...

Wise Guys is a predictable comedy made quite entertaining by the barely concealed insanity of Danny DeVito and the naivete of Joe Piscopo. The two play Jersey hoodlums who decide to better themselves by ripping-off the Mob, much to the chagrin of the local, demented don. Rated R. ...

The ostrich is the largest living bird. It may stand nearly eight feet tall and weigh as much as 345 pounds.

Gardening

ral observation and horticultural activity at Monticello. The third president wrote to artist and naturalist Charles Willson Peale, "No occupation is so delightful to me as the culture of the earth and no culture comparable to that of the garden."

In creating their personal Edens, Washington and Jefferson and other American gardeners were influenced both by 17th-century French formal garden tradition and 18th-century English naturalistic garden design. In the 19th century, some gardens had symmetrical walks and artistically arranged flower beds; other had meandering paths with trees and flowers planted in a "natural" setting, and many were a potpourri of styles.

During the horticultural heyday at century's end, late-Victorian delights featured plants of all descriptions, pools, fountains, statuary, elaborate cast-iron furniture and classical flower-filled urns and vases. Italian-style terraces, Oriental bridges and French-style parterres — fancifully shaped and intricately planted flower beds — mingled ecumenically and exuberantly. "Americans looked over the gardens of the world and decided they wanted most of them," garden designer and historian Ellen Samuels says.

America's contribution to garden history was not in design but in grafting the fruits of industrialization onto the pastoral ideal. When this country's pristine wilderness paradise disappeared, Americans continued to believe that true virtue and happiness lay in the bond between people and land. But as industrialization spread in the 19th century, millions of Americans moved to cities and were separated from the soil. Happily, paradise could be found again in the urban and suburban garden, which flourished in the rich mulch of modern science, mobility, mechanization, mass production and marketing.

Popular literature acclaimed the garden as an antidote to urban ills. Andrew Jackson Downing, America's first great landscape gardener, in 1847 urged upon women "this labor, not severe, but gently exciting." Along with lightweight gardening tools for ladies, miniature rakes, hoes and spades were manufactured for young horticulturists who, parents were advised, would, if kept in the garden, be kept off the streets. Before the large-scale manufacturing of lawnmowers in the late-19th century, grass was cut by hand with a scythe. With new easy-care lawns, many families now could play croquet or tennis.

Botanical explorations around the world yielded such exotic plants as the popular bleeding heart from China. Scientific breeding of new plant varieties brought, as one wag put it, "more berries not than churches." A Salem, Mass., grower offered 1,000 varieties of pears. Greenhouses, nurseries and seedhouses sprouted in and around cities. Companies like D.M. Perry and Co. of Detroit tempted gardeners with the knowledge that they too could grow the faultless fruits and flawless flowers emblazoned on colorful seed packets, posters, trade cards and catalogs. All plants would prosper with fertilizers like "Peruvian Sea Fowl Guano." And no snake or other pest could survive in this personal paradise as long as "Powder of Persia" and other insecticides were available.

Blossoming horticultural societies exchanged botanical information, distributed free seeds and plants and held fairs and exhibitions — a tradition continued to this day by such organizations as the Pennsylvania Horticultural Society and the National Gardening Association. As urban land grew scarce in the late-19th century, city dwellers were given vacant lots to till. Today, in a burgeoning community garden movement, the American Community Gardening Association helps the landless would-be gardener find a spot of soil.

"Our first American parks were cemeteries," the Smithsonian's Buckler says. Victorian horticultural societies landscaped burial grounds so that people could get out and enjoy nature. "But between World War I and the 1960s, the emphasis on the importance of public parks and gardens was lost. The automobile and the suburbs changed family outings." Today, however, people are back in the parks and also visiting both public and open-by-invitation private gardens. Ellen Samuels, who describes some of these natural ornaments in The American Woman's Garden, feels that "Americans are now able to accept the notion that spent in a garden is not only an acceptable pleasure but an essential one."

"The human spirit is encouraged and uplifted by plants and flowers" is the way Buckler puts it. Buckler and his horticultural colleagues currently are bringing to life a "romantic 19th-century garden" which, come fall, will be blooming behind the Smithsonian "Castle" in Washington, D.C. The 4.2-acre Enid A. Haupt Garden, 15 years in the making in terms of research, the gathering of rare 19th-century cast-iron furnishings and the collecting of plants, will be a place where weary museum visitors can relax among horticultural pleasures from all over the world.

Some Americans these days are looking less to exotic flora than to native roots. The Brazos Symposium, a group also known as The Texas Rose Rustlers, hunts down and propagates old Texas roses. And Monticello's Historic Plant Center, which will open next year, plans eventually to have available "offspring" from bulbs actually planted by Jefferson.

Jefferson perfectly expressed the sense of eternal beginnings found in a garden: "But though an old man, I am but a young gardener."

Hotels predict big summer business

Summer hotel room bookings at Days Inn across the country are up 40 percent because of international terrorism, cheap gasoline and the weakening dollar.

"So, we should have a very profitable summer, as should other hotel and motel operators in the United States," predicted Henry R. Silverman, chairman and chief operating officer of Days Inn, the national economy motel chain. He made that prediction while addressing a lodging industry seminar sponsored by the accounting firm of Laventhol & Horwath.

Laventhol & Horwath is considered the nations leading consulting and accounting firm for the lodging industry. The seminar at the Park Hyatt hotel was for hotel/motel owners and developers who learned about financing and new developments in the lodging industry.

Silverman also told industry leaders that his franchise chain has just completed arrangements to develop up to 30 economy motels in China.

Days Inn began in 1970 in Savannah, Ga. as a single roadside motel "which was built across from a Holiday Inn," Silverman told the L&H audience. "The concept originally was to build these economy motels along the interstate system throughout Georgia and Florida." The chain spread throughout southeast United States, where it still has its strongest representative, but is now moving north and west into every state.

"Our latest properties are being developed in the downtown of major market cities at airports and in shopping malls. Our goal is to build brand loyalty and put heads in beds throughout this country," Silverman said. By the end of 1986 Silverman expects there will be over 300 Days Inns in the United States.

Another speaker, Robert M. Nagy, president of MacGregor Financial Services, a developer and owner of various franchise hotel properties, said "There still are tremendous opportunities in the hotel market if you have well selected, well located and well financed properties." However, he cautioned that "there will be some blood letting in the industry, just as in the office market, as we continue to see over-building, over-pricing and over-promotion."

He predicted that those "people who are debt heavy in the hotel industry will be losers;

One problem plaguing the industry most speakers noted, was that as interest rates move lower, prices on existing properties tend to move up and lenders generally add "kickers" in the form of higher occupancy demands and other performance requirements to increase their percentage of participation.

"The secret to financing a hotel these days, Jay Brandzel, director of Laventhol & Horwath's tax services said, "is to keep costs as low as possible so room rates too, can be kept low and competitive in an extremely competitive market."

9:29's benefit

On Saturday evening, May 31st, Oppella Temple, Daughters of the Nile, will present the 9:29's in a Banjo Concert at the Shriners Auditorium on Fordham Rd., Wilmington.

The club puts on a varied program of music, featuring, of course, the banjo, but also including guitars, mandolins, bass, Hawaiian guitar, as well as some vocalists and specialty acts. The club originated in Wakefield in 1956. This benefit will aid the Convalescent Relief Fund for the Shriners Hospitals for Crippled Children. For more information, call Emma Ryti, 438-2837.

Red Sox comedy

The Red Sox will have some unexpected help in the bullpen this season, but not the kind you might expect. "Bullpen" is Steve Kluger's hilarious Red Sox comedy, produced by Page Layne Miller and is coming to Boston on the heels of a successful Los Angeles theatre run.

"Bullpen" will be performed at the Hasty Pudding Theatre, 12 Holyoke St., Harvard Square, Cambridge. The show opens Tuesday, June 24, and will be performed Tuesday through Saturday nights at 8 PM, Sunday nights at 7 PM, and matinees on Saturdays and Sundays at 2 PM. The box office opened May 19. Tickets are $14 for all seats weekday evenings and matinees, and $17 for all seats on weekend evenings. For reservations, call 547-3600.

Fair guide available

An old fashioned country fair is a tradition in New England and Massachusetts boasts almost 100 fairs across the state yearly. The Mass. Dept. of Food & Agriculture, Division of Fairs, has published a brochure "Massachusetts Agricultural Fairs, 1986" that is now available.

The annual publication is a list of all major fairs, community fairs, youth fairs, livestock fairs, grange fairs and flower shows in Massachusetts. For a free copy, send a stamped, business size, self-addressed envelope to: Massachusetts Dept. of Food & Agriculture,

Division of Fairs, 100 Cambridge Street, Boston, MA 02202.

From Hacky sacks to bullpens, from polo to fairs, COMING ATTRACTIONS has a little something to delight all. But we can always use a little help in finding out about events of interest that deserve publicizing. If you know of something along these lines, write, care of this local newspaper and tell us all. We look forward each week to a new pile of mailed-in adventures.
